EXPORTS UP 3.74% IN JANUARY, TRADE DEFICIT NARROWS

Although at a three-month high, exports rose barely 3.74 per cent in January as major foreign exchange earners such as engineering goods and refinery products either registered subdued growth or contraction in their outbound shipments. This is because of a slowdown in global growth, which has been hit by a trade war between the two economic giants - the US and China. Exports have remained lacklustre in the previous two months as well – growing by 0.80 per cent in November and 0.30 per cent in December.

KRISHNA KANT Mumbai, 15 February

orporate performance took a big knock during the October-December 2018 quarter (Q3), with the combined net profit of 2,338 companies that have declared results so far reporting a 28.3 per cent year-on-year (y-o-y) decline, the biggest in three quarters. Adjusted for exceptional gains and losses, earnings were up 2.2 per cent compared with 7.8 per cent growth a year ago and 16.6 per cent during the second quarter of the current fiscal vear.

Their combined revenues were up 17 per cent y-o-y during Q3 at around ₹21.76 trillion, lower than 19.6 per cent growth reported during the second quarter.

"We are staring at a slowdown in corporate earnings, but we have to see whether it's cyclical or a blip for a few guarters. In contrast to corporate numbers, macro variables such as inflation and the GDP trend show a rebound in growth," said G Chokkalingam, founder and MD, Equinomics Research & Advisory Services.

The picture gets worse if financial and energy companies are excluded. The combined net profit of these 2,005 companies was down 39.7 per cent y-o-y to ₹47,585 crore, the lowest pace of growth in at least 12 quarters. Adjusted for exceptional gains and losses such as impairment of assets, the combined net profit of these companies was up a mere 3 per panies during the July-September 2018 cent. Their combined revenue was up against top line growth of 15.4 per cent during the preceding quarter (Q2FY19).

Earnings in the quarter have been adversely affected by large losses by key manufacturing and infrastructure companies such as Tata Motors (₹26,993 crore), Vodafone Idea (₹5,005), Punj Llovd (₹2,795 crore), Adani Power (₹1,181 crore), and Rolta India (₹1,063 crore).

In all, 701 companies across sectors (including financials & energy) reported net loss during the third quarter against 630 companies a year ago and 699 comquarter. Put together, the combined loss

12.2 per cent to around ₹12 trillion, as es of these companies zoomed to ₹65,922 crore during the third quarter from ₹32,027 crore a year ago and ₹43,060

crore during the second quarter of FY19. As expected, companies took a hit on their profit margins during Q3 as expenses grew faster than revenues. The core operating profit margin for companies, excluding financials & energy, was down 90 basis points compared to the July-September 2018 quarter and nearly 300 basis points on a y-o-y basis to 12.9 per cent of net sales during Q3FY19.

Jet to raise ₹2.5k cr via rights issue

ARINDAM MAJUMDER & ANEESH PHADNIS New Delhi/Mumbai, 15 February

Cash-starved Jet Airways and its lenders led by State Bank of India are gearing up for a three-part resolution plan, which could take at least two months to fructify, sources in the know said. Raising about ₹2,500 crore through a rights issue is a key step for Jet in the proposed deal, even as its lenders are looking at a debt-to-equity conversion.

While lenders may convert ₹1,000 crore of debt into equity, they will also participate in the equity infusion through a rights issue as part of the deal. Additionally, promoter Naresh Goyal and Etihad Airways, which owns a 24 per cent stake in the airline, will infuse around ₹2,000 crore into the airline, sources aware of the development said.

Lenders are expected to participate in a rights issue to raise capital. Also, government-owned infrastructure fund National Infrastructure Investment Fund (NIIF) is likely to buy a 19 per cent stake for ₹1,500 crore. Along with the NIIF, banks will own a 51 per cent stake in the company.

'We are open to JVs but must have operational control'

Chairman and CEO of American Tower Corporation (ATC) JAMES D TAICLET JR, who's currently in India as co-chair of the US-India CEO Forum, tells Surajeet Das Gupta & Megha Manchanda that the company sees opportunity in fibre while continuing to grow its traditional tower business. Edited excerpts from the interview:

JAMES D TAICLET JR Chairman & CEO, American Tower Corporation

What is ATC's India growth plan and outlook for the next five years? Do you see new opportunities in this country?

It will be on two dimensions — we will grow our traditional asset base of towers. We will also bring in more assets into our company in an inorganic fashion over a period of time. Even for 4G, there will be new opportunities for sharing ancillary assets, which predominantly include fibre, the need for providing data storage at tower sites for 5G and inbuilding solutions. We will build assets for sharing in all these spaces.

Are you open to a joint venture with Reliance Jio or any other player in towers? We are very open to joint ventures but we must have operational control and the ability to consolidate the investments in our financial results. By operational control, we mean there should not be any intervention from mobile operators in the business. Scale is important in this industry and mobile operators have got massive needs. The more scale we have to serve them, the more successful they and we will be as partners. We will keep a very close eye on the Indian telecom landscape.

What will be the route for you to enter the fibre infrastructure business?

We do not rule out asset acquisition. One approach is complete organic build-up to connect our towers with a fibre backbone. There are other options too. There are three to four players already in this market with 25,000-30,000 miles or route km of intra-city fibre and we can partner anyone or more of them on a purely commercial or a joint venture basis. This is something we are evaluating right now. We know it will be a necessity for an effective 4G rollout. Since we are doing intra-city fibre, there are others who may want to piggyback on that business.

Do you think consolidation in the telecom industry will impact your India business? We always built for consolidation in every country, but it is generally gradual in most countries. In India, the consolidation happened in 12 months when suddenly many telcos closed down because of the entry of Reliance Jio. We lost 30 per cent of our business and took a hit. But we expect the tower business to more than double in the next few vears with 4G.

Are there concerns from American businesses on India's FDI policy?

Abruptly changed, unpredictable policies are not good for investments. If we do the same in the US, there will be less Indian investment in the US. This is just the principal we offered in the CEO Forum. There was a time when many held back investment a little bit because of the tax policy, which changed abruptly in this country and we watched the Vodafone case. But this got fairly resolved in the court system. And we moved on and made more investments.

In relation to the e-commerce sector specifically, how will the issues linked to FDI norms be resolved?

Abruptly changed,

policies are not good for investments. If we do the same in the US, there will unpredictable

The general trend of relationship between the two countries has been completely positive. Many of the individual items have been resolved and many that have come to the attention recently will also be resolved in a mutually beneficial way. We have about six to seven joint industry groupings that would together come up with recommendations and opportunities that industry would pursue. In the course of that, if there are items that fall out, we would raise those constructively. Turn to Page 10

The NIIF was approached by lenders after Etihad Airways refused to increase its stake beyond 25 per cent without an exemption from open offer. The Securities and Exchange Board of India is learnt to have expressed its reservation over such an exemption. NIIF Chief Executive Officer Sujoy Bose did not respond to multiple queries about the matter.

Sources said Etihad Airways would infuse around ₹1,450 crore to maintain its stake at around 24 per cent, promoter Naresh Goyal would bring in ₹550 crore to hold 21 to 22 per cent.

Goyal has already infused ₹250 crore into the airline. "At the first stage of the resolution plan. lenders have agreed to convert around ₹1,000 crore of debt into equity. In the second stage, there will be a rights issue of around ₹2,500 crore in which banks will participate. This process is subject to approval from the promoter, lenders and Etihad Airways. It may take around two months to close,' said an official of a state-owned lender. The third part of the plan would result in sale of some assets. Turn to Page 10
