MAMALLAPURAM, OCTOBER 11 Prime Minister Narendra Modi and Chinese President Xi Jinping spent nearly five hours discussing terrorism, trade, investment and their respective national visions during the first day of their second informal summit being held at the medievalera port town here today.

A major topic on the table was the challenges faced by both countries from terrorism. Both leaders acknowledged that as both countries were large and diverse, radicalisation was a matter of concern for both. They resolved to work together so that terrorism did not affect their multireligious, multi-ethnic multicultural national mosaic. "Both leaders also spoke of

A case under Sections 420. 406 and 120B of the IPC has been registered against them at the Nihalsinghwala police station. However, no arrests have been made so far.

As per the details available, Sandeep Kaur, wife of Kulwinder Singh of Nihalsinghwala, Moga, complained to the SSP that she wanted to send her daughter Jaskiran Kaur to Canada.

While pursuing a beautician course at Chandigarh, Jaskiran met another girl in the parlour who introduced her to Amandeep claiming that she was a travel agent. After initial meetings, she took the girl and her parents into confidence. She arranged a travel visa of Indonesia after taking Rs 17 lakh from them.

In Indonesia, Jaskiran met two persons who took her to their private apartment and started demanding more money. Jaskiran's parents transferred Rs 63 lakh in various accounts.

However even after getting Rs 80 lakh, the travel agents failed to arrange a Canadian visa for Jaskiran who was forced to overstay in Indonesia for a few weeks until the local authorities took her into custody and deported her back to India. Poor healthcare, roads — Same old story in Dakha

Sorry state of education pushes youth to foreign shores I Dirty ponds, choked drains other issues

LUDHIANA, OCTOBER 11

Many youth of various Dakha constituency villages are going abroad for studies and getting settled there as there is a dearth of opportunities here. Also, even after over 70 years of Independence, open drains, dirty ponds and poor roads are still the top poll issues in these villages.

Slamming the successive governments, the villagers said they were still struggling to get these small issues redressed while the improved health services and provision of better education system were a distant dream.

As the bypoll for Dakha is going to be held on October 21, the candidates of major political parties have intensified their campaigns. The workers of various political parties are also making requests to the villagers to support their respective candidate for the overall development of their area.

A group of elderly persons at Jangpur village near Dakha said the candidates and their supporters were making promises for the construction of drains and streets these days. These are the same issues that were highlighted

"Around 50% of the village youth have moved abroad. Many farmers are forced to sell their land just to send their children abroad for a bright future.... Interestingly, the work to construct drains and streets at several villages was started just a short time before the imposition of the model code of conduct for the bypolls. Gravel has been laid on several roads in the constituency and the residents are being assured of the early completion of the construction work.

A tweet by a Sunam-based SAD leader has revived hopes for safe return of a Gurdaspurbased girl, who has been stuck in Kuwait for the past two months. After noticing the tweet, External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar issued directions to Indian officials in Kuwait, who have assured to facilitate her return.

"After Allowal village leader Gurnam Singh brought to my notice that Raji John Stephen (30) was stuck in Kuwait, I tweeted the issue. Jaishankar responded within 24 hours after locating her in Kuwait and shifting her to a women's shelter home. She will return in some days," said Winnerjit Kin of Raji who is stuck in Kuwait for the past two months.

Singh Goldy, SAD spokesperson from Sunam.

Goldy further informed that though complete details would emerge only after her return, but primarily it had come to light that after being cheated by an agent, Raji escaped from his custody and started living in a private shelter. She was shifted to the Indian government's shelter home after the tweet.

Her family members said Raji was a Class XII pass out and went to Kuwait after paying Rs 60,000 to a New Delhi-based agent two months back. Though the agent had assured Rs 30,000 monthly salary, the family had not received even a single penny yet.

"We arranged Rs 60,000 by taking a loan from a money lender. Though initially she used to talk to us, some days ago we lost contact with her. Last week, we received a voice message on WhatsApp from somebody from Kuwait about the fraud with our daughter," said John Stephen, father of Raji, who has retired from the Punjab Government.

The police have seized 7-kg heroin from various locations on the basis of confessions of a drug peddler, who was arrested recently.

Fazilka SSP Bhupinder Singh said Jagdish Kumar, incharge, CIA staff, Fazilka, received a tip-off that a local smuggler, having links with Pakistan-based peddlers, wanted to supply drugs through a route near the Gulaba Bhaini border outpost.

The SSP said a special team was constituted which coordinated with BSF officials and launched a search drive during which 2.6-kg heroin worth more than Rs 5 crore was seized. It came to light that Mehal Singh of Mianwala village, Jalalabad, smuggled the contraband from Pakistan.

The police nabbed Satnam Singh of Guruharsahai on October 8 and recovered 260 gm of heroin. Satnam is said to be Mehal Singh's close aid. He was produced in a local court that sent him to police custody. During interrogation, he confessed that Mehal hid heroin in a paddy field.

The SSP said cops took Satnam Singh along and found 4.2-kg heroin worth Rs 22 crore near Basti Ram Lal BOP in the Ferozepur sector on Thursday.

He said Satnam was in the Ferozepur Central Jail when he came in contact with Mehal Singh. After his release, Mehal contacted Satnam for drug smuggling. A search is on to nab Mehal Singh.

This year, Malwa sees gradual shift to CCI

Cotton farmers have started opting for the sale of their produce to the CCI. PAWAN SHARMA

Perneet Singh TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

BATHINDA, OCTOBER 11 In a significant development, cotton farmers of the Malwa region have gradually started opting for the sale of their produce to the Cotton Corporation of India (CCI) which had found no takers last year primarily due to its condition of direct purchase from the growers. attribute the change in trend to the fact that the textile industry is reeling under a slowdown and the farmers are not getting a good deal from the private buyers who are offering them between Rs 4,700 to Rs 5,200 per quintal, which is less than the cotton MSP of Rs 5,350 per quintal. Sources in the CCI told The Tribune today that they had purchased 600 quintals of cotton from the farmers in Abohar while reports from other markets of the region are yet to pour in. The CCI had procured 100 quintals of cotton from Abohar, 100 quintal from Killianwali and 60 quintal from Bhucho Mandi on Thursday.

"It is a positive development, which augurs well for both the CCI as well as the cotton farmers. Earlier, the farmers were hesitant to approach us, as they didn't want to antagonise the arhtiyas by opting for direct sale of cotton to us. However, they are now coming forward to inquire about the process," said the CCI sources.

Indian Cotton Association Limited president Mahesh Sharda said the CCI's entry into the market would certainly boost the prospects for cotton farmers to get a better price.

"The farmers have now got an option in the form of CCI, as the private buyers are not offering them good prices," he said. He, however, added that there was no dearth of private buyers in the market, but the problem was that the prices were being governed

> Cotton trader Ashok Kapur said the CCI's entry into the market had come as a morale booster for the farmers. BKU Ugrahan's general secretary Sukhdev Singh Kokri Kalan hailed farmers' move to approach the CCI for selling their cotton produce, stating that they had been long giving a call to the farming community to free themselves from the clutches of arhtiyas. He urged the CCI not to impose cuts in payment to farmers on account of high moisture content.

by the international market.

Cotton loses sheen as prices plunge

RUCHIKA M KHANNA

CHANDIGARH, OCTOBER 11

This year, cotton has lost its 'white gold' tag as the prices have fallen by Rs 500 to Rs 1000 per quintal across the Malwa region.

Sukhdev Singh Kokrikalan, secretary of Bhartiya Kisan Union (Ekta Ugrahan), rued that the cotton growers were being deprived of their rightful due in this fight between the CCI and commission agents. "Some cotton growers have got just Rs 4,400 per quintal from private traders/ ginners. They have no option but to sell their produce to private traders, at whatever rate they determine," he said.

CCI officials, on the condition of anonymity, said the most important reason for

Arhtiyas 'stop' CCI from entering mandis

With commission agents, surreptitiously 'thwarting' the CCI from entering mandis to make a direct purchase, it is the farmers who are at loss. Farmers are getting just ₹4,400 to ₹5,000 per quintal for cotton, against the MSP of ₹5,400 per quintal.

them not being able to make the purchase was the "noncooperation" by the "politically connected" commission agents. "Since we make the purchase directly, arhtiyas have refused to allow our entry to mandis. We are also crediting the dues to bank accounts of farmers directly. The CCI has set up open market yards at some ginning mills, besides setting up our purchase centres. Even at our centres, arhtiyas keep an eye. This vear, the moisture content in cotton is much higher than the procurement specifications (8-12 per cent). So far, most of the cotton is coming with moisture content of 16-20 per cent," said a senior CCI official.

No wonder that against the average 2,000 quintals of cotton being purchased by private parties in each mandis daily, the total purchase by the CCI so far is just 2,200 quintal, procured at their own centres set up at Killianwali, Bhucho and Abohar.

While 360 quintal was purchased by the CCI yesterday, 700 quintal was procured in Abohar and 140 quintal at Killianwali today. It is after four years that the CCI has entered the market and procured cotton, because in the past four years, cotton continued to be bought by private traders at par with or more with the MSP. Commission agents, however, rebuffed the charges of interference with the CCI. They said farmers themselves do not want to sell their produce to the CCI as it reduced price by one per cent with every one per cent rise in moisture content, over and above the 8-12 per cent bracket. Rajnish Jain, a commission agent in Maur, said "The CCI pays less in case of high moisture content. We fetch farmers higher rate from ginners and private traders, in spite of high moisture".

After photos of students painting the outer wall of Government Senior Secondary School (Boys), Bhawanigarh, went viral on social media, area residents have demanded action against the school authorities. Residents alleged that the school authorities had no right to pressurise students for such study work in the school.

After a few residents saw some students painting the wall of their school, they clicked photos and shared it in various WhatsApp groups and photos also uploaded on Facebook.

"It has exposed the real reasons for poor results of government schools as teachers are more interested in getting the school work done rather than pressing students to concentrate on their studies. Locals 'targeted' for highlighting illegal sand excavation alongside Ravi

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE AJNALA, OCTOBER 11

A considerable chunk of the Ravi embankment has been eroding fast in Ajnala due to rampant illegal sand mining that can wreak havoc in nearby villages.

Former Ajnala MLA Amarpal Singh Bony, along with his supporters, took a tour of interior areas of border village Ballarwal in Ajnala sector where he came across five to six gorges dug around 40-50 feet deep by mafia, allegedly in connivance with politicians and police. According to information, a group of people allegedly hurled abuses at Bony and his supporters and also pelted them with stones, smashing windowpanes of their cars.

Identical was the scene in villages like Sarangdev, Khanwala, Rerewal, Kot Rajda, Darie Musse and Jassar in Ajnala. Later, he came to know that the application had been misplaced.

HARYANAZIECTIONS

Uttar Pradesh CM hits poll trail with four rallies in state, lambasts rival party over 'scams and corruption'

NITISH SHARMA & NITIN JAIN

AMBALA, OCTOBER 11

Uttar Pradesh Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath on Friday said the Congress gave a free hand to "damadji" (referring to Congress chief Sonia Gandhi's son-in-law Robert Vadra) to loot farmers' lands in Haryana during the party's rule from 2005 to 2014, as he invoked Article 370, Rafale purchase and triple talaq, during an Assembly election rally here.

He was addressing the first of his four public meetings of the day in the district's Shahzadpur village. Yogi addressed the other rallies in Kalka, Julana and Sonepat.

The Assembly elections are scheduled for October 21.

changed when the BJP came to power. Jobs were given on merit in the past five years," Yogi said.

He further said, "You will never hear the slogan of 'Bharat Mata ki jai' from the Congress stage. Why? Because it is all about one family for the Congress. It doesn't think about anyone else except for the welfare of a particular family."

The BJP leader hailed his Haryana counterpart for giving a "new direction" to the state in the past five years. "Given the kind of enthusiasm among people, the BJP will cross the target of 75-plus seats. It will set a record to wipe out the Opposition completely."

TRADING BARBS OVER SANKALP PATRA

BJP tears into Cong manifesto, Hooda: Khattar govt forgot to dismisses it as a bundle of lies

Asks whether assurances kept in states ruled by it

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

CHANDIGARH, OCTOBER 11 The BJP on Friday mocked the Congress manifesto

while the JJP. AAP and Swaraj India criticised it for lofty promises and no clarity on funding. "The manifesto is a bundle of lies. The party is going to be wiped out. If it is serious about these promises, it should first implement these in states where it is in power," said Subhash Barala, BJP state unit president.

"The announcements are good, but has the Congress implemented these promises in states where it is in power? It is an old habit of the party to fool people with lies. It promised farm loan waiver in Punjab, but only a few hundreds got the benefit," said Sanjay Bhatia,

BJP chief Subhash Barala

BJP MP from Karnal. JJP leader Dushyant Chautala accused the Congress of copying his announcements. "Over century-old Congress has started learning from 10month-old JJP. We were the first to announce higher oldage pension, 75 per cent reservation for local youths, free coaching, free insurance for crops, honorarium for elected panchayat representatives and scrapping new Motor Vehicles Act. It has copied these for the manifesto," he said.

"Where have those four Chief Ministers gone? The manifesto is a bundle of lies. Which of these has been implemented in Rajasthan, Madhya Pradesh and Punjab, where the Congress is in power. Copying Arvind Kejriwal will not do, you have to work like him,' said Naveen Jaihind, state AAP unit chief, in a tweet.

Swaraj India national president Yogendra Yadav raised questions over funding to fulfil promises. "The manifesto is a bundle of tired, defeated and empty promises. No planning is reflected behind any announcement. There is no account of expenditure and from where the money will come. Is it a manifesto or entertainment?" he said.

fulfil all 154 pre-poll promises

Former CM says Cong has pledged what it can honour

CHANDIGARH, OCTOBER 11

On a day when the Congress released its election manifesto "Sankalp Patra", former Chief Minister Bhupinder Singh Hooda today accused the BJP of forgetting all 154 promises it made to the people before coming to power in 2014.

Addressing a series of rallies in Kaithal, Kurukshetra and Mullana (Ambala) today, Hooda said that before going to people for votes, the BJP should give an account of its deeds in the past five years.

Responding to the BJP's attack on the "Sankalp Patra" issued by his party today, Hooda said the Congress promised what it could honour in the future.

Notably, state BJP president Subhash Barala and Karnal BJP MP Sanjay Bha-

Bhupinder Singh Hooda

tia had mocked the Congress' manifesto by terming it a bundle of lies.

The BJP leaders had also asked the Congress to implement these promises in Punjab, MP and Rajasthan first where their party was in power.

Claiming that his track record had been clean in honouring commitments, Hooda said he fulfilled all promised he had made before coming to power in 2005 and 2009 and would do so in the future also. "The day we come to power, the farm loans of farmers, landless farmers will be waived within 24 hours. From the very first day, senior citizens will start getting pension at a rate of Rs 5,100 per month. The age of senior citizens for the purpose of pension will be 58 for men and 55 for women. Poor women will get Rs 2,000 per month as kitchen allowance and 100 yard plots will be provided to the poor," he said.

REWARI, OCTOBER 11

Taking a strong view of reports about division in the party following the candidature of Sunil Yadav Musepur from Rewari, BJP working president JP Nadda on Friday gave a clear message that there was no place for those resisting the party candidate in the elections.

"The BJP is a disciplined party and it is the responsibility of every leader and worker to respect the decision. The political career of those who go against the party ends. Whatever is going on in Rewari is inappropriate and not in the interests of the party," he said.

This was his first election meeting in the state. Claiming that the BJP would achieve its target of more than 75 seats, Nadda said the BJP was the only party with clear intention and policy.

"Under Prime Minister Narendra Modi, the BJP government has made India a military power. Several steps have been taken to strengthen the Army. We have fulfilled the long-pending demand for one rank, one pension and taken the historic decision of scrapping Article 370 in Kashmir," he added.

Rao Inderjit Singh took a dig at Randhir Kapriwas's remarks that it was a contest between 'real' and 'fake' BJP. "We are real BJP workers and Musepur is the real candidate," he said.

Ex-DyMayor quits INLD, joins BJP

KARNAL, OCTOBER 11

Giving a jolt to the INLD, former Deputy Mayor Manoj Wadhwa on Friday joined the BJP. Chief Minister Manohar Lal Khattar welcomed him and assured him of respect in the party.

Wadhwa contested the last Assembly elections against Khattar. His wife Asha Wadhwa contested the last mayoral election against Renu Bala Gupta and came second.

Wadhwa lauded Khattar's efforts for transparent and corruption-free governance. "I am impressed with Khattar's working and development agenda for Karnal and Haryana. My aim is the development of Karnal so I have joined the BJP under the leadership of the Chief Minister," he said. — TNS

The segment is witnessing an interesting fight as Congress rebel Ranjit Singh, younger brother of former Chief Minister Om Prakash Chautala, has joined the fray for the October 21 elections. Sensing the threat posed by the JJP, an offshoot of the INLD, to the ruling BJP in over 25 seats, the saffron party is going all out against the new political outfit in a desperate bid to contain its influence, especially among the Jat peasantry and youth. Its leader Dushyant has emerged as a punching bag for the ruling party. Chief Minister Manohar Lal Khattar went on the offensive against Dushyant, terming him as "gappu" while cautioning people not to get mislead by his claims on recruitments in Haryana.

Dushyant had picked holes in the recruitment policy, alleging 78 out of 80 posts of assistant engineer in the power utilities had gone to youth from outside the state. An embarrassed Khattar government recently withdrew the posts apparently to avoid backlash from the electorate in the elections.

Thanks to the recognition being given to sportspersons by the government, media and people, pehalwans of the state's famous akharas, who used to be employed as musclemen by political leaders during the elections, now prefer to focus on their sport. The craze and glamour of representing their state and country and a strong urge to win medals at prestigious national and international sporting events now drive the state's wrestlers.

The wrestling guru admits that earlier political leaders used to employ pehalwans as musclemen during elections. "As of now, some wrestlers who are unable to make a mark in the sport work as bodyguards with politicians as well as other celebrities," observes Dhaka.

The passion for wrestling and popularity of Haryana's akharas can be gauged from the fact that more than 200 wrestlers from nearly a dozen states are undergoing training at the akhara.

Notably, none of them wants to work as bodyguards of politicians. "Many youths who escort politicians, especially during the elections, are paid well and get lucrative facilities. But the world of sports offers much more if one works hard and has patience," asserts 21year-old Bharat Vir of Saharanpur in Uttar Pradesh, who has recently won a bronze medal at the National Under-23 Championship and aims to represent India in World Championship. ₹5 cr seized in tax raids on 2 K'taka Cong men

"Search and seize operations at 25-30 premises of Parameswhara and Jalappa are continuing since Thursday, for alleged tax evasion and non-disclosure of disproportionate assets from educational institutions they run with relatives and

Parameshwara, 68, was the Deputy Chief Minister in the 14-month-old JD (S)-Congress coalition government and former president of the party's state unit for over six years.

INX:ED moves Delhi court for PC's custody

NEW DELHI, OCTOBER 11

The Enforcement Directorate (ED) today moved a Delhi court seeking custodial interrogation of senior Congress leader and former Finance Minister P Chidambaram in the INX Media money laundering case.

Chidambaram is in Tihar jail in connection with the INX Media corruption case lodged by the CBI and will be produced before Special Judge Ajay Kumar Kuhar on October 14 following the production warrant issued against him on the ED's plea.

Taking note of the plea, argued by Solicitor General Tushar Mehta and special public prosecutor Amit Mahajan, the special court issued the warrant directing Tihar jail authorities to produce Chidambarm before it at 3 pm on Monday, when the probe agency can formally arrest and quiz him in custody.

The development assumes significance as Chidambaram has been denied bail by the Delhi HC and the SC in the case filed by the ED. — PTI

Health policy-making body okays floating faculty proposal

ADITI TANDON

NEW DELHI, OCTOBER 11 Medical MD and MS students will have to undertake a compulsory district hospital posting as part of their postgraduate course from the next academic session.

The landmark move which seeks to boost the availability of specialised health manpower across rural India was today endorsed at the meeting of the Central Council for Health and Family Welfare, the apex health policy-making body of the country which has health ministers of all states as members.

The council passed 34 resolutions to push the country's momentum towards health for all. One of these resolutions was on mandatory three-month posting for MD/MS students during the second year of their course at district hospitals in the country from 2020.

"The proposal was approved at the council. The aim is to ensure that medical postgraduates serve in a variety of settings, especially across district hospitals which take the maximum public health load of the hinterland," said a top source familiar with developments at the meeting.

Cong for Corbyn meet

MUMBAI, OCTOBER 11

Home Minister Amit Shah today hit out at the Congress for "discussing matters of national security with foreign leaders". Addressing a rally at Buldana in Maharashtra's Vidarbha region, Shah referred to a tweet by Jeremy Corbyn, Leader of the Opposition in British parliament, about a "very productive meeting" with a delegation of the Congress where Kashmir was reportedly discussed.

"Kamal Dhaliwal who is close to Rahul Gandhi met Jeremy Corbyn and said the situation is not normal in Kashmir. I want to ask Rahul Gandhi, what does your party want to do by discussing matters of country with foreign leaders," Amit Shah said at the rally.

Shah said all along the Indian Government stated that Kashmir was India's internal matter and it would tolerate no interference by foreign leaders. "For years we have been stating that we would not tolerate any kind of interference in Kashmir whether it was the American President or anybody else. The recommendations are based on the report's analysis of funds received and expenditure incurred by recognised six national and nine regional parties with regard to the last Assembly elections in Haryana and Maharashtra, held in September-October 2014. Political parties are required to submit statement of election expenditure to the EC within 75 days of completion of Assembly elections, but the BJP, CPI and the Congress delayed the matter by 198 days, 197 days and 181 days, respectively. The INLD delayed it by 42 days whereas the SAD submitted it on time (both parties

The funds collected by parties at the central headquarters were Rs 233.76 crore and expenditure was Rs 204.10 crore. Maharashtra and Haryana state units spent Rs 136.69 crore and Rs 16.42 crore.

The BJP collected the maxi-

The INLD and the SAD, which only contested in Haryana, spent Rs 3.94 crore and Rs 0.0046 crore, respectively.

AHMEDABAD, OCTOBER 11

Former Congress president Rahul Gandhi appeared in Ahmedabad courts in connection with two defamation cases and pleaded "not guilty" in both cases.

In a case filed by BJP corporator Krishnavadan Brahmbhatt for calling BJP president Amit Shah a 'murder accused' in a rally in Jabalpur, he was granted bail on a Rs-10,000 personal bond. In another case related to Rahul's claim that Ahmedabad District Cooperative Bank was involved in a currency swapping scam postdemonetisation, the court refused to grant him permanent exemption from personal appearance and fixed the hearing on December 7.

On Thursday, a Surat court fixed the hearing on a similar plea on December 7 while granting him exemption from personal appearance in a case for allegedly defaming making sarcastic remarks as to "why all thieves share Modi surname." — OC

Inmates clash in UP jail Panel snubs appeal to hand over Ayodhya land

LUCKOW, OCTOBER 11

Two groups of prisoners clashed inside the Gorakhpur district jail on Friday, in a fight that was reportedly triggered over the quality of food served there.

Sources said some jail personnel, jailor, deputy jailor and three wardens, were also beaten by inmates when they tried to intervene. Inmates also damaged the CCTV camera, chairs and other jail properties. Heavy force has been rushed to the jail and the police had to deploy drones to monitor the situation.

An uneasy peace was brokered when the Additional District Magistrate assured the inmates of looking into their demands.

According to the jail administration, two gangs of inmates of Koel Yadav and Govind Yadav had instigated their supporters to attack jailor Prem Sagar Shukla and deputy jailor Prabhakant Pandey. The inmates have also written to the District Magistrate to act against Circle Officer Praveen Singh who had allegedly thrashed some inmates last night for misbehaviour in the police van while returning from court. — TNS

Rejecting the proposal of a group of eminent Muslims to hand over the disputed 2.77 acres in Ayodhya to the Supreme Court as a goodwill gesture, All-India Babri Masjid Action Committee (AIBMAC) convener Zafaryab Jilani said they had no say in the matter.

Speaking to mediapersons today, Jilani said: "I may know who Lt Gen Zamir Shah is, but how many know him? Who are they to offer the Ayodhya land as a good-

On the private track

New operators can make Railways pull up its socks

VER four years after the Bibek Debroy Committee stated that liberalising the entry of new operators into railway operations was a viable option to encourage growth and improve services, the government has formed an empowered group to prepare a feasibility plan for upgrading 50 railway stations to world-class standards and allowing private players to operate 150 trains. The development follows the flag-off of India's 'first private semi-high speed train', the Lucknow-New Delhi Tejas Express. Tejas, run by the Indian Railway Catering and Tourism Corporation (IRCTC), offers facilities for rail passengers that were virtually unheard of earlier in the country — Rs 25-lakh travel insurance, luggage pick-up and drop, and monetary compensation in case of delays.

Railway unions are opposing the move to open the floodgates for private participation. They fear that lakhs of employees will become jobless or no longer have job security. The best way the government can allay these apprehensions is to establish the long-overdue railway regulatory authority. An independent regulator that can promote healthy competition and protect the interests of various stakeholders was mooted not only by the Debroy panel, but also by the Rakesh Mohan Committee (2001). The latter, set up by the Atal Bihari Vajpayee-led NDA government, had recommended corporatisation of the Railways. It had stirred up a hornets' nest by suggesting division of responsibility of functioning between three institutions — the proposed Indian Railway Corporation, the regulatory body and the Union Government. Predictably, the recommendation did not pass muster with the ministry's top brass as implementing it would have loosened the government's stranglehold on the Railways.

Government or private, the ownership of trains and railway stations is the least of the passengers' concerns. They want basic facilities — tout-free access to platforms, comfortable berths, safe and high-speed travel, good food, clean toilets — even if all this entails paying higher fares. It's potentially a win-win situation for the traveller, as long as the operator goes all out to woo him and is held accountable for any deficiency in services.

Transforming education

Public participation inspires change in govt schools

N the absence of adequate government funds and facilities, giving a fillip to education in Punjab government schools are members of the civil society. They are pitching in to ensure that the little ones get the best learning tools, as also proper meals for their all-round development. Heartwarming gestures of Good Samaritans rising to the occasion dot the state. It is believed that in 2018 alone, as many as 2,524 government schools in Punjab metamorphosed into exemplary complexes from dilapidated infrastructures. Driving the change was the coordinated efforts of the school staff along with NRIs, corporates and the public. The primary school in Moosa village of Mansa district has the proud distinction of weaning students from private schools ever since it revamped into a 'smart' one, thanks to donations by the village community supplementing government aid. As teachers volunteered to take extra classes after school hours and hone the children's talents, no parent felt the need to enroll them anywhere else. The school of Jeetsar, another village of Mansa, has made similar progress by making optimal use of its resources gathered from concerned citizens.

Equally edifying is the latest gesture of Ludhiana schoolteachers who have not let students go without the midday meals despite coffers running empty. They have pooled money to buy vegetables and taken other food items on credit. To ensure that children continue to be provided with nutrition in line with the Food Security Act, the Punjab Government must expedite the release of funds. In a related matter, it also needs to sympathetically look into the issue of raising the salaries of cooks, who have been protesting against the meagre amounts they receive.

To stem the fast exhaustion of funds, the government would do well to also adopt imaginative methods to cut expenditure. Setting up kitchen gardens for clusters of neighbouring schools can save money on costly vegetables as well as ensure wholesome, hygienic meals for kids. For, notwithstanding public participation, the primary responsibility of children's education and food, so that they become productive citizens, remains that of the government.

ON THIS DAY...100 YEARS AGO

LAHORE, SUNDAY, OCTOBER 12, 1919

The Punjab Enquiry and the Police.

AS will have been seen from the Press communique published in these columns, Sir Edward Maclagan has already moved in the matter of giving effect to the pledge recently given in the Imperial Legislative Council, that members of the public giving evidence before the Enquiry Committee shall not in any manner be harassed by the police. This is precisely what might have been expected. The action taken by His Honour is, however, only the first step in the process. If the assurance given by the Home members is to be given full effect to, the Commissioners and Deputy Commissioners concerned must loyally co-operate with the head of the Government and must keep a vigilant eye upon the police, holding a prompt inquiry into all complaints and inflicting suitable punishments in all cases where the complaint is found to be well-founded.

Kasur Indemnity.

IT appears from a petition submitted by the inhabitants of Kasur to His Honour the Lieutenant Governor that an indemnity amounting to about a lac and a half of rupee has been imposed on the residents of that locality. The grounds on which the petitioners pray for a withdrawal of the order demanding the indemnity are similar to those urged by the inhabitants of Gujranwala to whose case we referred in a recent issue. It is pointed out in both the petitions that the respective localities were notified as "declared areas" subsequent to the riots. It appears, therefore, that an important condition, which must be fulfilled before indemnity can be levied under section 15 (A) of the Police Act, has not been satisfied either in the case of Gujranwala or in that of Kasur. Apart from this aspect of the matter, there is the higher point of view of expediency.

Not in safe hands

Food regulator must champion public health and not be industry cheerleader

DINESH C SHARMA

SCIENCE COMMENTATOR

HE way the Food Safety and Standards Authority of India (FSSAI) is cosying up to the very food industry it is supposed to regulate, it would appear it has forgotten that it is not a promotional agency but a legally mandated regulator. The FSSAI is supposed to establish food safety standards and enforce them as per law, acting as the custodian of public health, just like the Food and Drug Administration in the US. For the promotion of food industry and business, the Centre has a dedicated wing — Ministry of Food Processing Industries.

Food and drug regulation is divided between the FSSAI and the Drug Controller General of India (DCGI). In both, the influence of powerful industrial and business lobbies has been a matter of concern. In 2012, the parliamentary committee on health had exposed the dubious nature of drug regulation, and reminded the DCGI that its job was to protect consumer interest and public health and not promote the interests of the pharmaceutical industry. Now, the FSSAI is going the same way.

The FSSAI came into existence as a result of the Food Safety and Standards Act 2006 and started functioning a couple of years later. The food industry influence on the regulator was seen at the very genesis of the authority when it packed all its scientific panels with representatives of the industry it sought to regulate. The panels were supposed to formulate standards for various things such as levels of pesticide residue, food labelling, genetically modified content in food, food supplements, recall, fisheries products, etc. Appointing food industry executives on these panels was grossly unethical as considering the company was still under the scanner.

The influence of powerful industrial lobbies is a matter of concern. An overhaul is needed to ensure transparency.

well as illegal. The law clearly lays down that members of scientific committees should be 'independent' experts. These committees were cleaned up following uproar in media and rebuke from the Supreme Court.

Within a few years, the industry perhaps nudged by the regulators invented a way to subvert these panels once again. Instead of nominating people directly from Coke, Pepsi, Cargill, ITC, Nestle, etc., as was done in 2008, the FSSAI stuffed its panels with so-called experts from industryfloated and industry-backed, dubious think tanks, associations and socalled private research institutes.

When this industry-regulator arrangement was exposed recently in international and national press, the FSSAI has come out with draft guidelines on 'working with the private sector'. These guidelines are nothing but poor justification of what has been going on in the authority in the past few years. It is now seeking to legitimise its cosy arrangement with the global and national food industry. The guidelines say that 'any candidate currently working/employed or associated with private food businesses of their research centres cannot be considered for appointment' in any scientific panel. The authority will have to sack half the members and chairmen of its panels if the proposal is implemented honestly. The guidelines also justify the participation of CEO and other senior officials of the authority on panels of some vague food safety centres established by industry associations, as long as 'the work of such centres is fully aligned with the aims and objectives of FSSAI'. There is inherent conflict in this — the objective of private industry and food biggies is profit, while the FSSAI is supposed to protect public health and consumer interest. Where do the two sets of interests align? Why should the CEO of publicfunded FSSAI rub shoulders with food companies who are answerable only to their shareholders?

Ironically, the present rot in food regulation follows a major food product recall by the FSSAI in 2015 — Nestle's Maggi noodles — for mislabelling. This recall had jolted global food giants. Here was a promising market for highly processed food products and a food regulator which could bite. Food majors responded by unleashing high-pitch public relations and lobbying efforts through industry chambers, politicians, international associations and even World Bank. The goal was to make the FSSAI industry-friendly. Nestle floated a food safety research centre, Hindustan Lever got Confederation of Indian Industries to set up a centre for excellence in food safety, ITC gave the bait of training regulatory staff, and so on. In each of these activities, the FSSAI became an active partner and its top brass donned the cap of a champion of food industry, deviating from its legally mandated goal of protecting consumer health. The handshake of the FSSAI chief with Nestle in 2017 was a shameful act, given the fact that the company then was still under the scanner and was facing a class action suit. It continues to face trouble with other government agencies. In September 2019, two of its dubious research projects were ordered to be terminated by the Indian Council of Medical Research (ICMR) for flouting regulations relating to marketing of baby foods. The DCGI has been asked to examine if ethical approvals were taken for the two clinical trials sponsored by Nestle. But ignoring this, the FSSAI wants to work with the likes of Nestle, as is clear from the latest guidelines on 'working with the private sector'.

Both the food and drug regulatory authorities should be above board if they have to win the confidence of consumers. Both must champion the cause of public health and consumer safety, and not become cheerleaders of the industry. Like the investigation by the parliamentary panel into the working of the DCGI, and recently into the working of another regulator — Medical Council of India — there should be one covering the functioning of the FSSAI. Knee-jerk reactions to occasional exposes into its working are not going to help. The authority needs an overhaul and a new system that ensures the highest levels of transparency. The blurring of lines between promotion and regulation is not in the interest of the public.

Dey is forgotten, Nehru's 'daughter' too

RANBIR SINGH

Thad been built by the muscles of refugees who had been uprooted I from their homes as a result of the Partition and put in a camp commanded by the great visionary, SK Dey. He decided to construct Nilokheri as an agro-industrial township as well as a focal point for rural development by linking the adjoining villages with it. It could claim to be the first planned township of North India. The township had been divided into Kisan Basti and poultry, hospital and school area. Its Gole Market was based on the model of the Connaught Place of New Delhi.

An Integrated Industrial Training Centre had been set up by the Government of India at Nilokheri for training the youth in different trades. It is a different matter that today its building located on the GT Road has been lying unused for about two decades.

Dey had also set up the Orientation Training Centre in 1953 for converting the general administrators inherited from the colonial era into development administrators. However, it was relegated to the status of an extension training centre for the training of officials of the Development and Panchayats Department, and named it as the State Community Development Centre. Renaming it as Rajiv Gandhi State Institute of Panchayati Raj and Community Development has in no way enhanced its status to the extent of matching the Orientation Training Centre, which used to be headed by ICS officers. Even the Haryana Institute of Rural Development, established in 1994, could not fill the wide gap created by the abolition of the Orientation Training Centre.

The Government Polytechnic at Nilokheri, the first such institution in north-west India, too, was set up by Dey. Students from J&K and undivided Punjab used to study there. It had acquired a great status. But now, it has lost its glory after the proliferation of government and private polytechnics. Even Government Engineering College, which came up in 2014, has not been able to acquire that status.

The Government of India Printing

Press, from where the Journal of Rural Development, Kurukshetra, used to be published, was also Dey's idea. The press has since been closed. Nilokheri was considered as a site for building the capital of Punjab in the 1950s. However, the proposal was sabotaged on the pretext that it was a flood-prone area.

Nehru had once declared Nilokheri as his daughter! He had also desired that at least 10,000 Nilokheris be built up in various parts of India. But the tragedy is that today nobody bothers about this orphan of Nehru. Dey has also been completely forgotten. No institution could be named after him, despite the strenuous efforts of his daughter, Purbi Pandey, in 2006—the centenary year of that great visionary.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Hold elections soon

Due to long years of terrorist violence, lack of infrastructure development, unemployment, social injustice, political corruption and misgovernance, the Kashmiris feel disgruntled, alienated and intimidated ('The Valley of fear'; Nous Indica, October 11). No doubt, the security forces have maintained peace post abrogation of Article 370, but the clampdown, arrest of political leaders and grassroot workers, and alleged rights violations have undermined the core values of democracy. For the restoration of normalcy, the Centre should let political activism take wings and hold elections to the state Assembly. HARMOHIT SINGH, HOSHIARPUR

May good sense prevail

The detention of popular leaders in the Valley, being what it is, winning them round to back New Delhi once again may now be difficult. Pakistan is all out to disturb India's hold on the Valley. Entrusting the task of restoration of tranquility to novices has its own pros and cons. Under the circumstances, ushering competitive politics is indeed imperative to restore peace. A common man, in the meantime, can only pray that good sense prevails all around!

KL NOATAY, BY MAIL

'Change' for the better

Refer to 'The Valley of fear' (Nous Indica; October 11); it is not moot that the detention of top leaders in Kashmir discredits Indian democracy, but the Abdullahs and others of their ilk considered J&K as their fiefdom, with loyalty to India subject to enjoying power. It is time the Valley opens up to new horizons to attract infrastructure development, educational avenues and employment generation. The Centre is on the right track and the 'change' will be tangible in not so distant future, paving the way for people's rule.

LALIT BHARADWAJ, PANCHKULA

Some fraud!

Refer to 'Fortis ex-CMD held for Rs 740 crore fraud' (October 11); the arrest of a former CMD of a reputed company is a telling example of one's fall from grace — a who's who of Indian corporates to a fraudster. This case is not one-off. Siphoning off funds, taken as loan from banks, can happen only when the bank authorities look the other way. A major chunk of money in banks is the hard-earned money of the common people. The whole episode becomes murkier with the involvement of the name of the chief of a religious trust, with a large following not only within the country, but also outside. It is sad to see higher-ups of society discarding integrity in their dealings for personal aggrandisement.

YOGINDER SINGHAL, LADWA

Mocking road safety

Apropos the middle 'The many Ching Fung-Lis on road' (October 11), 'Helmeta di koi parvaah nahi, tripping ch overspeed gaddi mai dauda layi' is from a song 'Dilli ke sardar boys', which mocks norms for road safety. The youth is being influenced by such content. They do not wear helmet as hair is more important than life. Using earphones while driving is 'cool' for them. The government must take special steps for two-wheelers.

SAURAV SHARMA, JAMMU

DA not bonanza

While announcing the DA by the Union government to its employees and pensioners, it has given a different nomenclature like bonanza and Diwali gift. It is neither. DA is compensatory part of wages. The sanction of DA is based on the six-monthly increase in the Consumer Price Index. The compensation for price rise is admissible twice a year — January and July. The government has announced the DA after three months. Thus it is neither dole nor charity. Furthermore, many state governments have not given DA for the past couple of years. Punjab, too, has failed to give DA since 2017.

Those mushaira days...

It was 2006, when we decided to organise a mushaira to commemorate Republic Day. We have been organising All India Mushaira since 2001, but are unsure for how long, as funds are an issue. People can give a lot in the name of religion, but nothing for promotion of art and culture! The expenditure on poets' honorarium was about Rs 1.9 lakh. We met the then DGP, Punjab — a great lover of Urdu shairi. He assured us help from the Sufi Foundation India. The mushaira was a success and we were left with Rs 16,000 as two poets failed to make it. When we went to return the money, the DGP asked us to keep it for the organisation. We spent that money on the next mushaira. Years later, after his retirement, I told him that those were the days when we used to get Rs 2 lakh easily, but now even Rs 16,000 was difficult. He said: 'Log bade ho gaye hain par dil chhote ho gaye hain.' I recited him a couplet: 'Ab to itni nahi mayassar maikhane mein/Jitni hum kabhi chhod diya karte the paimane mein.' NARESH RAJ, PATIALA

Living together as a nation is a moral choice

M RAJIVLOCHAN HISTORIAN

RE we a nation? Does the natural diversity of the Indian social landscape undermine Bharat, the rashtra? Do we need to homogenise to become a nation? Does being a nation undermine our diverse identities? Logic, common sense and the experience of living in India suggest these to be red herrings.

Diversity is natural to human existence. Only Indians, since the British pointed it out, make a fetish out of it and constantly talk either of nurturing diversity or of diversity being under threat. It requires an extraordinary kind of insularity to presume that diversity is unique to India. All people have it. Diversity exists in all nations. Even those that claim to be governed by a single religion, caste, tribe or language.

The defining feature of a nation — at least a civilised and caring nation — is the desire and ability of the people to live together rather than fighting with each other over the natural dissimilarity in belief patterns, religions, languages, food choices and preferences for conjugal living etc.

France has 25 regional languages, each regional language has many subgroups. A report written for the French Government in 1999 identified 75 languages as regional or minority languages. China has eight main dialects, each of which has hundreds of variations, not counting minority languages like Mongolian or Tibetan and their variations. The religious universe is equally diverse.

A Pew report of 2017 identified 13 countries, including the United Kingdom, where Christianity is the state religion. And yet, only 59 per cent of the people in the UK practice Christianity. Even fewer follow the Anglican denomination which is the one that is the 'state religion'. Islam, Judaism, Sikhism and Hinduism are the other minority religions. Onequarter of the UK said they did not practice any religion. None of this leads France, China or the United Kingdom or any other country, to wonder whether they are a nation or a nation-in-the-making.

In India, historically speaking, people revel in how unique they are and superior to others. An almost impermeable layer of superiority also makes them quite contemptuous, and unmindful of each other as they divide themselves into castes and sub-castes and sub-sub-castes, and religions and sub-religions...the defining feature here is to create ever small, insular groups. Each of which group then asserts its presence, loudly if possible.

Outsiders frequently get overwhelmed by such insularity that marks the Indian society and culture. Various visitors who came to India in historical times noticed stark differences between Indians and the outside world. However, it was Babar, the invader from Kabul, who first noticed that such insularity was indicative of Indians being uncultured. He had decided to stay in India even while his generals insisted on leaving behind the heat and dust of India and return to the pleasant climes of Kabul. Writing his memoirs in the 16th century, CIVILISED WAY: The defining feature of a nation is the ability of people to live together rather than fight with each other.

In India, historically speaking, people revel in how unique they are and superior to others. An almost impermeable layer of superiority also makes them quite contemptuous, and unmindful of each other as they divide themselves into castes and sub-castes, and religions and sub-religions. he remarked that Indians did not have the ease of interacting with each other, unlike the people of Afghanistan and Uzbekistan who were comfortably cosmopolitan.

To this day, social division along innumerable fault-lines is a characteristic feature of India. Whether this is due to our innately strong sense of self or an inability to find common platforms, it hardly matters. Whether we like it or not, other countries do see us as one nation and have done so perhaps since the earliest days. Greek geographer Herodotus used the term 'India' in the fifth century BC.

In the modern world, existence is defined by citizenship. Rights flow from where you live. The right to do business, the terms of business, depend on that. No doubt, identity has multiple strands to it. Insular groups based on caste and religion are, by definition, a microcosm of reality and have limited relevance beyond that microcosm.

Attempts to project such insular groups as the primary identity of an individual, important beyond all others, have only resulted in violence and bitterness. Kashmiri Pandits and Kanyakubj Brahmins have as little in common with each other as Mappila Muslims and Deobandis. The one secular, open-ended identity that is available to all, and which guarantees constitutional rights to the people, is that of belonging to a nation.

Asserting the identity of an insular group over and above everything else is liable to undermine any collective identity. Whether or not to live together as a nation is, in the end, a moral choice.

The Constitution makers of India made that moral choice for us when they chose to have the Constitution as the fundamental norm, from which flowed all other norms for the state and the people of India. They gave us a Constitution that was extraordinarily detailed. They also made the Constitution the device with which to transform the Indian society. The grand project of the Constitution involved, among other things, a commitment to the ideas that were not, in 1947, a characteristic of India.

The Constitution talked of equality of status and opportunity for all citizens in a society that was extremely unequal in every possible way. It talked of the liberty of thought, expression, belief, faith and worship for all citizens in a society that had just emerged out of a murderous partition of the country, because some people insisted on religion as their primary identity. There was a commitment to providing social, economic and political justice to the citizens.

Whether knowingly or unknowingly, the Constitution was also following an ancient Indic tradition: asserting the right of individual conscience and belief. A defining characteristic of India in the past has been a refusal to allow a monopoly of truth to any one belief system. Till the arrival of Islam at any rate, Saiva, Vaishnava, Sramana, Nirgrantha (Jaina) to name only the most well known; all these groups freely crossed over from one to the other, without social sanction against such crossings.

Finding all belief systems in one and the same family was a routine affair. In an earlier age, Chandragupta Maurya was a Jain, his son Bindusara a follower of the Ajivikas and grandson Asoka a Buddhist. Asoka's son Jalauka was a Saiva and his grandson Samprati a Jaina.

Making choices when faced with claims of competing identities is never easy. It might be difficult to balance the demands of individuality with the demands of being a member of the wider group called nation, but finding that balance is critical to survival as a nation. In the end, it is a moral choice that we must make.

Offensive action needed to detect drones

GP CAPT MURLI MENON (RETD) DEFENCE ANALYST

Despite the limitations of low-cost drones in terms of any substantial load or weapon carriage, they can cause considerable damage, given the vulnerabilities of soft civilian targets as seen in Saudi Arabia. Also, dropping of AK-47s, RDX and the like affords non-state and other actors another effective means of waging a sub-conventional war.

about weapons being dropped surreptitiously by Pakistani drones in Indian Punjab. Whilst no technical details of the types of drones employed have emerged from the pictures shown in the media, they appear to be crude low-cost platforms. The recent drone/cruise missile strike carried out supposedly by Yemeni Houthi rebels against Saudi oil farms nearly had the entire world up in arms. The advent of unmanned aerial vehicle technologies has posed a unique challenge to the air campaigner. The limitations of low-cost drones notwithstanding, in terms of any substantial load or weapon carriage or war-waging capability, given the vulnerabilities of soft civilian targets as seen in Saudi Arabia, they can cause considerable damage. Also, dropping of AK-47s, RDX and the like affords the non-state and other actors a new effective means of waging a sub-conventional war. If media reports are to be believed, neither the IAF nor the BSF/Army was able to detect the drone activity over the LoC/IB airspace in Punjab. Of course, air defence of the Indian air space and the tactical battle area is the responsibility of the IAF and I am sure action would be at hand to counter this threat. Even in the past, the IAF has addressed these issues effectively, employing suitable radar and weapon combines. The problem with UAV neutralisa-

tion is its low radar cross-section and low speed, which makes a tactical weapon solution challenging, especially at night. But there are enough options with the IAF/Army in terms of tactical radars AEW/AWACS/aerostats to provide timely drone detection over any given sector. And, as far as shooting it down is concerned, the use of attack helicopters, trainer aircraft such as the Kirans/Hawk or Pilatus class of aircraft could be considered as they would be more in sync with the UAV-operating regime, specially of speed and altitude. More so, when drones are used by the adversary to abet his terror campaign and drop small arms etc, the IAF needs to consider offensive action to target the launch pads themselves.

Aggressive electronic interference with the UAV-operating frequency should also be attempted to lead the drones astray. There have been techniques evolved of using an aerial net system to snatch aerial drones in flight. The intention should be to deny the enemy the use of this platform, howsoever nuisance value their employment may have.

If the technology is used by the adversary to target VIPs or strategic targets. it would be a different ball game altogether and aerial or other counter action would become imperative. The use of assets such as 'Thrush 510 G' light-prop aircraft or 'Little Bird' helicopters for such counter-terror roles is advisable. The advantage of employing such aircraft is essentially the low cost and compatibility with a UAV's operating spectrum. With suitable armour-plating, light aircraft such as the Thrush could well be armour-plated in IAF Base Repair Depots to be employed in Counter-Terror and Combat Search And Rescue (CSAR) roles.

It may be recalled that not having a proven CSAR capability or inventory contributed directly to the IAF's inability to recover Wing Commander Abhinandan before he was picked up by the Pak Army after ejection over their territory. The key challenge in CSAR is to keep enemy ground forces at bay, away from the downed pilot, and these special aircraft or others optimised for the role, such as the A-10 Wartgog, make this possible.

Aerial warfare has been a continuous seesaw of offence and defence. Every offensive action elicits a novel defensive action. The use of low-speed counter-insurgency aircraft is another option to target the UAVs themselves or launch pads across the border. It is not as though drones would replace manned fighters in a hurry. Yes, UCAV (unmanned combat aerial vehicle) technology could open up interesting possibilities. But the entire spectrum of manned assets and electronic warfare spectrum needs to be exploited to counter the UAV threat. Cost-effectiveness would be an important consideration alright. Meaning, we may not like to deploy a Beyond Visual

Range (BVR) class of aerial weapon against a low-cost UAV. Hence, the various options suggested.

Another important aspect for the planner is to discern what kind of targets could possibly be engaged by such UAVs. Arming a UAV had hitherto been a prowess monopolised by the US (whose Predator and Reaper drones have made a mark for themselves in Afghanistan and the Middle East). China and Pakistan are desperately attempting this weaponisation and so is India.

It's not only the technology to fire a missile from a UAV against a ground target and the mechanics involved in such a mission, but also to have a suitable missile of the Hellfire class which is used on the Predator/Reaper. The Indian Navy is known to be getting a Reaper class of UAV from the US for sea counter-terror missions. There's no gainsaying that such a capability would enable the muchwanted counter-terror targeting of national enemies, such as Hafiz Saeed and Dawood Ibrahim. As also possible military leadership targets of our western adversary!

Of course, technology by itself is of no use unless backed by political will. This appears to be aplenty in the present dispensation and, thus, we could open up an entirely new regime in our counter-terror campaign. Balakot could prove to be more than a milestone in India's proactive military strategy, including through aerial targeting and political signalling.

Admn mulls restoring Internet at govt offices, hotels in Kashmir

JAMMU, OCTOBER 11

After lifting travel advisory for tourists in Kashmir, the Governor's administration is seriously contemplating to grant Interto access government establishments and hotels across the Kashmir valley shortly.

Besides, the administration is also thinking over granting Internet access to print media organisations in view of the difficulties being faced by the journalists in Kashmir.

The move is seen as the part of the government's Confidence Building Measure (CBM) against the backdrop of prolonging shutdown in the Kashmir valley post revocation of state's special status on August 5.

Highly placed sources told The Tribune that the Governor's administration may take a "positive call" on granting Internet access through broadband services to all government establishments, including various administrative and public-dealing offices, and hotels across Kashmir soon. "On Thursday, the government issued a fresh advisory while lifting all restrictions on tourists visiting Kashmir. The grant of Internet access to hotels is under serious consideration as authorities are hopeful of receiving normal footfall of visitors in the winter season," the sources said.

On August 2, the state Home Department had issued an advisory asking tourists and Amarnath pilgrims to leave Kashmir due to 'prevailing' security threat. The decision was taken ahead of the abrogation of Article 370 and Article 35-A. The mobile connectivity and Internet services were suspended in the Kashmir valley on August 5.

Sources said the communication blockade has also impacted the functioning of government offices adversely, forcing the administration to seriously consider the issue of granting Internet access to all government offices.

"Apart from government establishments hotels, the government may also grant Internet access to print media organisations in view of problems being faced by journalists," sources said.

Journalists in the Kashmir valley had been holding protests in favour of their demand for restoration of Internet services. They alleged that the local media had almost been rendered defunct following the communication blockade.

Militants trying to infiltrate from other routes: Lt Gen Ranbir Singh

AMIR KARIM TANTRAY

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

BHADERWAH (DODA), OCTOBER 11 Infiltration from the Pakistani side is not confined to the Line of Control (LoC) and International Border (IB) in Jammu and Kashmir. The militants are now trying to infiltrate through other borders outside the state. This was disclosed by Northern Command chief, Lt Gen Ranbir Singh, today during an interaction with the media after inaugurating 'Sangam' youth festival at the Bhaderwah campus of the University of Jammu (JU) here.

"There have been several reports regarding infiltration by terrorists into J&K. However, as far as the counter-infiltration grid is concerned, it is very strong and we are able to thwart the infiltration bids at the

LoC itself. It is a multi-tier grid and if militants try to sneak in by breaching the first grid, the second grid will catch them. But if they manage to breach the second grid also, they are eliminated by other grids," he said.

"There are reports that infiltration is taking place but since the grid is strong on the LoC, we have reports that infiltration is taking place from other borders and from there onwards, they try to come to J&K through Lakhanpur and other areas. But be assured that we will be able to stop the infiltration in the best possible manner," he added.

The Army commander said terror camps and launching pads inside Pakistan-occupied Kashmir (PoK) were active and around 500 terrorists were always present there. "In J&K, 200 to 300 terrorists are active and around 500 terrorists are present in launching pads and terror camps across the LoC. But the number is approximate and keeps changing," he said.

He said militants in the state were facing a shortage of weapons. "It is the reason they are attacking police stations and snatching rifles from SPOs," he said.

Speaking on the Kashmir valley, he said the situation was improving since the abrogation of Articles 370 and 35A.

CHANDIGARH, OCTOBER 11 Notwithstanding low capital and poor institutional framework, artisans in the northern region hope to make moolah this Diwali, courtesy increase in demand for handicrafts from corporates for gifting purpose. The rapid growth in the corporate gifting industry has also offered an opportunity to the rural artisans and MSMEs in tier-II and tier-III cities such as Khurja, Moradabad and Saharanpur in Uttar Pardesh, Kundli and Panipat in Haryana and Jaipur in Rajasthan.

The major items in demand are brass, aluminium and stoneware idols, handmade diyas and home furnishings etc.

According to retailers, the demand for handicrafts and handmade gifts is witnessing a phenomenal growth with increased awareness and availability of multiple platforms to sell their products, making a win-win situation for both retailers as well as the artisans.

"Every festival season we don't go for factorymade or mass-produced designs. Instead, we stand out by gifting handicrafts to our employees to support artisans who create unique designs," said a senior executive working with a multinational in Gurugram. For Anil Mehta (aged 60), a Jaipur-based artisan dealing in brass, aluminium and stoneware idols, the emergence of whole- Arooti Antiques (P) Ltd. sale and retail stores Around 150 artisans are and increased awareness has pushed the demand, especially for idols made of brass, aluminium and stoneware during Diwali season.

"Earlier, I used to supply goods to government emporiums but for the past around five years now, I am supplying my products to Walmart and Metro Cash & Carry. With this, not only earnings of artisans associated with us have increased but we have managed to reach out to wider audience through them without any capital investment," said Anil Mehta, director, associated with him and this Diwali season, his company is also supplying goods to Reliance and Evok stores.

The artisans are of the view that it is the uniqueness of their products which attracts the customers. They are undeterred by the influx of cheaper substitutes.

Poonam, proprietor, God Gifts Arts, said, "If there is creativity, there is demand and people are ready to pay for it." She is supplying decorative diyas to Walmart India stores. Her diyas are priced between Rs 50 and few hundred rupees for a pack of 10 depending upon the design.

Kundli-based Babita Gupta, a supplier of home furnishing items to Walmart India and Myntra, said the corporates go for uniqueness of the product. "We keep on getting orders from corporates through our partners. We have learnt that customers go for quality and value proposition."

To cater to the consumers, the wholesale retailers are also taking initiatives. Krish Iyer, president & CEO, Walmart India, said, "We are working closely with MSMEs, local manufacturers and women-owned businesses this festival season to co-create differentiated merchandise, thereby supporting local manufacturers."

Auto sector crisis deepens

Car sales down 33.4% in Sept, passenger vehicles slip 24%

NEW DELHI/BENGALURU, OCT 11 Passenger vehicle sales slumped 23.7% in September, the 11th straight month of decline, prompting an industry body to flag more job cuts if sales failed to pick up soon.

Passenger vehicle sales dropped to 2,23,317 units in September, the Society of Indian Automobile Manufacturers (SIAM) data showed, while passenger car sales dived 33.4% to 131,281 units.

SIAM's data comes as the domestic automobile industry faces a crippling slowdown in demand that has led to production cuts and thousands of job losses. The industry is seeing longestever streak of sales decline.

"We are preparing for bestcase and worst-case scenarios ... worst case there will be more production and job cuts," said SIAM president

- Passenger vehicle sales dipped to 2,23,317 units in September while car sales dived 33.4% to 131,281 units
- Car and auto component makers have cut thousands of jobs and halted some production as the industry grapples with various challenges amid a broader economic slowdown
- Aggregate revenue for listed auto companies is estimated to have dropped by one-fourth in July-Sept, as per to Crisil

Rajan Wadhera.

Car and auto component makers have cut thousands of jobs and halted some production as the industry

grapples with various challenges amid a broader economic slowdown. The government stepped in last month, announcing a corporate tax rate to boost manufacturing and lift growth. On Friday, SIAM's Wadhera said it expected some improvement in the situation on the back of the festive season.

However, Wadhera refrained from giving out a forecast for future sales, saying SIAM would maintain a cautious stance until October performance numbers are in. Aggregate revenue for listed automobile companies is estimated to have dropped by one-fourth in July-September, Crisil, the Indian arm of S&P rating agency, said in a note on Thursday.

The drop in auto sales is also expected to hit earnings for insurance companies such as New India Assurance and ICICI Lombard General Insurance in the September quarter. — Reuters

Factory output at 7-year low, shrinks 1.1% in Aug

New Delhi: Signs of slowdown became more pronounced as the government data on Friday revealed factory output shrank by 1.1% in August, recording the poorest performance in seven years due to a sharp decline in production of capital goods and consumer durables. Industrial production growth for the first time in over two years has treaded into negative territory. The Index of Industrial Production (IIP) had shown a growth of 4.8% in August 2018. The previous low in IIP was (-) 1.7% in November 2012. The manufacturing sector, which contributes over 77% to the IIP, contracted by 1.2%, the lowest in five years, as against a growth of 5.2% in the yearago month, according to the data released by the National Statistical Office (NSO). The previous low in the manufacturing segment was recorded at (-) 1.8% in October 2014. Electricity generation growth too was in negative at (-) 0.9% as against an expansion of 7.6% in the year-ago month. PTI

Infosys Q2 profit falls 2.2% to ₹4,019 crore

Bengaluru: IT services company Infosys on Friday said its consolidated net profit has declined by 2.2% at Rs 4,019 crore for the July-September 2019 quarter. This is against a net profit of Rs 4,110 crore in the same period last fiscal, Infosys said in a regulatory filing. The city-based company saw its revenue rise by 9.8 per cent to Rs 22,629 crore in the quarter under review from Rs 20,609 crore in the year-ago period. In constant currency terms, this translates into a 11.4% increase. Infosys has raised the lower-end of its FY 20 revenue guidance and the revised forecast now stands at 9-10% growth in constant currency terms. At the beginning of the fiscal, the company had said it expected a revenue growth of 7.5-9.5% for FY 2019-20. Subsequently, while announcing its first quarter numbers, the company raised its revenue growth guidance for the fiscal to 8.5-10%. PTI

Airtel shuts 3G services in Haryana, users on 4G now

Chandigarh: Airtel on Friday said it has shut down its 3G network in Haryana and migrated customers to 4G services. The closure of 3G network is part of the company's plan to gradually phase out the third generation services across the country. "Airtel mobile broadband services in Haryana will now be available to customers on its high-speed 4G network along with HD quality VOLTE calling. Haryana is the second telecom circle after Kolkata to see the discontinuation of 3G services by Airtel," it said. All customers on Airtel 3G were duly notified and requested to upgrade their handsets and SIMs to continue on Airtel 4G, it added. Airtel, however, will continue to provide 2G services in Haryana to serve the connectivity needs of customers on feature phones. "The deployment and augmentation of 4G and re-farming of 3G spectrum is in line with our national strategy," Manu Sood, Hub CEO-Upper North, Airtel said. TNS

Uber launches boat service in Nigeria's Lagos

LAGOS: Global ride-hailing firm Uber Technologies Inc on Friday launched a pilot test of a boat service in Nigeria's commercial capital Lagos to attract commuters seeking to avoid the megacity's notoriously congested roads. The waterway service, UberBOAT, is operated in partnership with local boat operator Texas Connection Ferries and the Lagos State Waterways Authority (LASWA), said the ride-hailing firm. Passengers will be charged a flat fare of 500 naira ($1.39) per trip, compared with about 300 naira by minibus for a similar journey in the commercial hub of the West African country where most people live on less than $2 a day. Alexei Leonov, first man to conduct spacewalk, dies

Moscow: Alexei Leonov (85), a Soviet-era cosmonaut who was the first man to conduct a spacewalk in 1965, died in Moscow on Friday. The Russian space agency Roscosmos said it was saddened to announce the death of "cosmonaut No. 11" who was twice decorated with the country's top honour, the Hero of the Soviet Union. Leonov was a close friend of Yury Gagarin, who became the first human to go to outer space in 1961. Four years later Leonov made history when he left a spacecraft during the Voskhod 2 mission for a spacewalk that lasted 12 minutes and nine seconds. AFP

Ethiopia PM Abiy wins Nobel for mending ties with Eritrea

OSLO, OCTOBER 11

Ethiopian Prime Minister Abiy Ahmed won the 2019 Nobel Peace Prize on Friday for his peacemaking efforts which ended two decades of hostility with longtime enemy Eritrea. Abiy restored ties with Eritrea that had been frozen since a 1998-2000 border war.

"I am humbled and thrilled ... It is a prize given to Africa, given to Ethiopia," Abiy said in a phone call with the secretary of the award committee that was posted online.

The Nobel Committee said Abiy had won the prestigious prize for "efforts to achieve peace and international cooperation, and in particular for his decisive initiative to resolve the border conflict with neighbouring Eritrea".

Turkey intensifies assault on Kurds

ISTANBUL, OCTOBER 11

Turkey stepped up its air and artillery strikes on Kurdish militia in north-east Syria on Friday, escalating an offensive that has drawn warnings of humanitarian catastrophe and turned Republican lawmakers against US President Donald Trump.

The incursion, launched after Trump withdrew US troops who had been fighting alongside Kurdish forces against Islamic State militants, has opened a new front in the eight-year-old Syrian civil war and drawn fierce international criticism.

In Washington, Trump suggested that Washington could mediate in the conflict, while also raising the possibility of imposing sanctions on Turkey.

On Friday, Turkish warplanes and artillery struck around Syria's Ras al Ain, one of the two border towns that have been the focus of the offensive. A convoy of 20 armoured vehicles carrying Turkish-allied Syrian rebels entered Syria from Ceylanpinar. Some 120 km to the west, Turkish howitzers resumed shelling near the Syrian town of Tel Abyad, a witness said.

"Tel Abyad is seeing the Kohli joined VVS Laxman, Sehwag, Rahul Dravid and Karun Nair. Sehwag made 4 250-plus scores while the others have made one each. Kohli is the first Indian to go past 250 in an innings.

Virat Kohli hit 33 fours and two sixes in his knock of 254 runs. AFP

The manner in which Virat and Jadeja batted, it looked so easy from the outside. I don't think it's a 600-plus wicket, it's a 450-500 runs wicket. Focus is on Olympics, can't take a chance with injury: Chopra

KARAM PRAKASH TRIBIINE NEWS SERVICE

PATIALA, OCTOBER 11

Javelin thrower Neeraj Chopra, gold medallist at last year's Commonwealth and Asian Games, will not be competing in any tournament this year. There had been speculation that he would participate in the ongoing National Open Athletics Championship in Ranchi, and Chopra said he pulled out on the advice of his coaches.

Chopra has been eying a comeback following an elbow injury in May, but he does not want to take a chance with his injury. Currently training at the National Institute of Sports (NIS) here, Chopra told The Tribune that though he was fit to participate in Ranchi, his coaches suggested otherwise.

Talking about the lastminute withdrawal from the event, Chopra said: "If I can miss the World Championships and Diamond Leagues, the National Championship is not a major event that I can't miss. I was fit to participate. but I couldn't take a risk at this moment."

Chopra, who started training at NIS last month, disclosed that he had been throwing the javelin to

'I need to beat fear of injury, won't participate in any event this year'

around 80 metres during practice after rehabilitation from his injury. However, he said he hadn't fully recovered in terms of mental preparedness. "I still fear that the injury might come again," he said. "In sports, an injury can happen any time... Therefore I don't want to risk my career to participate in an event."

Chopra's personal best is 88.06, achieved at last year's Asian Games.

"Dar hai abhi bhi (I still have a fear)," he said. "It will take time to get over this fear to get a good throw." He said if he got pumped up and aggressive in competition, he might suffer a jerk in his elbow, which could affect him very badly.

Olympics focus

Chopra's ultimate goal is to do well at the Olympics. "The Olympic Games are so near now... If I get an injury again, my Olympics dream will be over," Chopra said.

He said he would soon leave for a training stint in Europe to get to peak performance in the run-up to

DUTEE BREAKS NATIONAL RECORD ON WAY TO GOLD

Ranchi: Dutee Chand smashed her own national record, clocking 11.22 seconds in the women's 100m semifinals on her way to the gold at the 59th National Open Athletics Championships. A fortnight after failing to reach 100m semis at the World Championships in Doha, the 23-year-old surpassed her previous best of 11.26s which she had set at the Asian Championships in April this year. While she had equalled Rachita Mistry's 11.26s effort at the Asian Championships, Dutee's time of 11.22s in the semifinals on Friday finally gave her the sole ownership of the national record. Dutee later clocked 11.25s in the final to claim the gold. At Doha, she had clocked 11.48s to finish a disappointing seventh in her heats. — PTI

Mithali, Raut seal series against SA

VADODARA, OCTOBER 11 impressive fifties to guide the Indian women's team to a series-clinching five-wicket win over South Africa in the second ODI.

India restricted South Africa to 247/6 after electing to field and then overhauled the target with two overs to spare to take an unassailable 2-0 lead in the three-match series. Pacer Shikha Pandey (2/38), left-arm spinner Ekta Bist (2/45) and leg-spinner Poonam Yadav (2/42) picked up two wickets each to keep the visitors to a below-par score.

Chasing 248 to win the match, India lost openers Priya Punia (20) and Jemimah Rodrigues (18) early to slip to 66/2 in 12.5 overs. However, Punam (65) and Mithali (66) resurrected the chase by sharing a 129-run partnership for the third wicket.

Skipper Mithali Raj and broke the stand when she had Punam Raut smashed Mithali caught by Laura Wolvaardt in the 40th over. In the next over, Punam holed out to Kapp off Ayabonga Khaka, leaving India at 196/4 in 40.1 overs. Harmanpreet Kaur then hit an unbeaten 27ball 39, laced with five boundaries and a six, to take India home with 12 balls to spare. The third and final ODI will be played on October 14. Brief Scores: South Africa: 247/6 in 50 overs (L Wolvaardt 69, Mignon du Preez 44; S Pandey 2/38); India: 248/5 in 48 overs (P Raut 65, M Raj 66; A Khaka 3/69). — PTI

Greece's Stefanos Tsitsipas battled back from a set down to defeat top seed Novak Djokovic 3-6 7-5 6-3 in the Shanghai Masters quarterfinals for his first victory over a reigning world No. 1.

The 21-year-old came into the match having sealed his place in next month's season-ending ATP Finals and celebrated with his second career win over Djokovic in three meetings.

Federer at the Australian Open and Rafa Nadal in Madrid. Tsitsipas next faces Daniil Medvedev, who overcame Italy's Fabio Fognini 6-3 7-6(4). The Russian third seed's victory ensured Tsitsipas became the sixth player to qualify for next month's ATP Finals.

Djokovic, Nadal, Federer, Medvedev and Dominic Thiem have also booked their places in the Finals, with two spots still up for grabs for the tournament in London.

Zverev in semis

Roger Federer was given a point penalty as he followed Novak Djokovic out of the Shanghai Masters quarterfinals in a bad-tempered defeat to Alexander Zverev.

The 22-year-old German won 6-3, 6-7 (7/9), 6-3 as the Swiss legend was penalised after twice hitting the ball out of the court in anger and rowing with the umpire.

In the semifinals, Zverev faces Matteo Berrettini who beat Dominic Thiem 7-6(8) 6-4. — Reuters

Minister questions SC's rationale to reject NJAC

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

NEW DELHI, OCTOBER 11 Four years after the Supreme Court struck down the National Judicial Appointments Commission (NJAC) Act and restored the collegium system under judges appoint which

judges, the NDA government still appears uncomfortable with the verdict.

"I have very, very strong reservations at the flawed logic given in the judgment... The government has accepted and respects the judgment," said Law Minister Ravi Shankar Prasad on Friday at a book launch function here.

Criticising the Supreme Court's 2015 judgment striking down the NJAC Act that gave some say to the executive in appointment of judges in the higher judiciary, Prasad termed the logic given in the verdict "patently flawed". The minister said even before the collegium system came into being in 1993 through a judicial verdict, good judges were appointed. Unlike the collegium, which has only judges on the selection panel, the NJAC Act was supposed to have in place a six-member body with the Chief Justice of India as its chairperson and two other senior-most judges of the top court, two eminent persons and the Union Law Minister as members.

But the SC had in October 2015 declared the NJAC Act unconstitutional, saying the presence of the Law Minister would compromise on the independence of judiciary. He wondered if the Prime Minister could be trusted with nuclear arsenal and appointment of constitutional authorities such as the Chief Election Commissioner and the Chief Vigilance Commissioner, why his representative in the NJAC couldn't be trusted with appointing good judges.

Lord Ram, Krishna and Hanuman in the original Constitution of India, he said these illustrations represented the cultural heritage of India. "Had the Constitution been framed today with these illustrations, what kind of storm it would have triggered," he wondered.

Kashmir is integral to Indian tradition, says Karan Singh

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

NEW DELHI, OCTOBER 11 Claiming that he had mixed feelings about the prevailing situation in Jammu & Kashmir, former Rajya Sabha member Karan Singh today said the talk of development in the state would be a reality "only if Dal Lake was restored to its original expanse".

Speaking as chief guest at a function for the release of a book, 'Emperor of Kashmir: Lalitaditya Great', Singh insisted he would not speak on the current situation in the state as today's event was related to J&K's history.

Noting that Kashmir was an integral part of the Indian tradition, he said, "Emperor Lalitaditya is no less important than the greats of Chandragupta Maurya and Vikramaditya. It was due to his contribution that India's territory touched China." Singh exhorted historians to write about his ancestors, the Dogra dynasty, which ruled J&K for nearly 100 years.

Former J&K Governor NN Vohra, who presided over the function, said like others, he too "hoped and prayed that normalcy returned to the state as soon as possible".

Introducing the book, author Sanjay Sonawani said people knew little about the pre-Islamic Kashmir history. "To understand contemporary facts, we need to know the history of a particular region and the same is true in case of Kashmir, whose history goes beyond 1947," he noted.

US Senators, Rajnath talk ways to boost ties

NEW DELHI, OCTOBER 11 US Senators Ted Cruz (Republican, Texas) and Maggie Hassan (Democrat, New Hampshire) called on Defence Minister Rajnath Singh in New Delhi today with the two sides discussing ways to strengthen military ties.

A slice of South's history and more | Sartorial makeover SANDEEP DIKSHIT

MAMALLAPURAM, OCTOBER 11 This ancient port town with its UNESCO sites not only demolishes the commonlyheld belief that India's Look East policy began in the 1990s, but also how Xi Jinping was acquainted with only a slice of its rich history that helped in the diffusion of Hinduism, Buddhism and Islam to South East Asia and China on the back of ships brimming with merchandise.

Xi was shown around the seventh-century Pallava dynasty monuments, many of these have remained in good shape because of the inherent civilisational ethos of the people and also because UNESCO took many of them under its wings thus preventing their degradation. But India's trade and cultural linkages with South East Asia and China go back to 300 BC or a full 1,000 years before temples, rock motifs and carvings that Xi will be touring with Modi came up.

The interaction, however, was most active 500 years on either side of the seventh century during the rule of the Pallavas.

It was during this time that the Chinese connection was established in the writings of Hiuen Tsang who visited Kanchipuram after landing at the port here. There is ample archaeological evidence and inscriptions to establish the extensive trade and cultural ties between the Chola Kings and Pallava Kings with China.

Hinduism sailed from here and established a foothold in South East Asia, the mythical fault-line between Indian and Chinese cultures. It got overlaid by the Buddhist culture sailing out of these same parts of India. Islam passed through the Tamil and Malayalee descendants of Arab merchants who took it to South East Asia and the Chinese part of Sanya. The first pan-Indian empire of the Mughal empire slowed down the trade due to its preoccupation with western and northern neighbours, but is continued apace. The body blow to India's cultural and commercial links was dealt by the British, Portugese, French and the Dutch who forcibly reorganised the age-old supply chains by reorienting them to supply raw material to their home countries and in many cases ensuring that they were comprehensively disrupted so as not to pose a threat to their trade.

Post Independence, India was not alone culpable for the drop in engagements. There were the Cold War forces that did not allow wither side to play an active role.

Of the several branches of historians, it is the Greater India Society school that puts India at the centre of all pre-British exchanges with South East and East Asia. Like all nationalists, this was an exaggeration. There was no mass movement of people and trade was not really sky-high. Both India and South East Asia were never as intertwined as Tagore romantically imagined was the case. In fact, both sides took a little of that was adaptable and ingrained it in their respective cultures.

marks informal meet

SANDEEP DIKSHIT TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

MAMALLAPURAM, OCTOBER 11

PM Modi landed in Chennai a couple of hours earlier and then rode a helicopter to Mamalapuram while Xi took the road option lined with AIADMK and BJP supporters, besides schoolchildren.

At 5 pm, PM Modi received Xi on the road skirting the monuments before kicking off their walkathon. He had earlier tweeted in three languages — English, Tamil and Mandarin — expressing arrival and wishing for further strengthening of bilateral ties. The two leaders visited three monuments — Arjuna's Penance, Panch Ratha and Shore Temple — accompanied by two translators. Declared a UNESCO World

Heritage Site in 1984, the 1,300-year-old Shore Temple is a cultural symbol of ancient Tamil architecture. After a coconut water break that ended the 45-minute tour of the monuments, the two leaders sat down for a cultural performance against the backdrop of an illuminated Shore temple.

As the 20-minute dance performance ended, Modi invited Xi for a private dinner that included 16 guests, eight from each side, but seated a little away from the Modi-Xi duo. The menu was entirely local cuisine, including both vegetarian and nonvegetarian dishes.
