THE WORLD

MEANWHILE

Nepal Man Sets Mountaineering Record

A Nepalese man shattered the previous mountaineering record for successfully climbing the world's 14 highest peaks, completing the feat in 189 days. Nirmal Purja scaled the 8,027-metre Mount Shishapangma in China on Tuesday, which was the last of the 14 peaks that are more than 8,000 metres in height. The previous record was seven years, 10 months and six days.

TOPOFTHE WORLD

conference in Hong Kong Tuesday. AP

HONGKONG

Top democracy activist barred from local polls

Hong Kong: Hong Kong democracy activist Joshua Wong was barred Tuesday from standing in upcoming local elections after months of huge and frequently violent protests in the city. Wong, one of the most prominent figures in the otherwise leaderless movement, accused the government of "political screening" after an election officer ruled invalid his nomination for the November poll. The 22year-old was sent to prison earlier this year over the democracy protests he helped lead in 2014. He immediately joined the historic anti-government protests rocking the city

TRUMP CONFIRMS KILLING OF ISIS CHIEF'S 'SUCCESSOR'

US officials: Baghdadi buried at sea, afforded religious rites

PHIL STEWART

WASHINGTON, OCTOBER 29

THE UNITED States has given the remains of Islamic State leader Abu Bakr al-Baghdadi a burial at sea and afforded him religious rites according to Islamic custom after he was killed in a US commando raid in Syria on Saturday, three officials told Reuters.

Baghdadi, an Iraqi jihadist who rose from obscurity to declare himself "caliph" of all Muslims as the leader of Islamic State, died by detonating a suicide vest after fleeing into a dead-end tunnel as elite US special forces closed in, according to the US government.

The US officials, who spoke on condition of anonymity, did not disclose where the ritual was performed or how long it lasted. Two officials said they believed his remains were delivered to the sea from an aircraft.

US Army General Mark Milley, the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, told a Pentagon news briefing on Monday that the US military disposed of Baghdadi's remains "appropriately, in accordance with our (standard operating procedures)

TRUMP SHARES PHOTO OF DOG IN ISIS RAID

U.S. PRESIDENT Donald

participated in the raid against Abu Bakr al-

Trump shared a photograph on Monday of the dog who

Baghdadi, the Islamic State leader, but said the dog's name remained classified.

"WE HAVE declassified a capturing and killing the

THE CANINE became the raid on Saturday.

famous overnight after it cornered the terrorist leader in a dead-end tunnel during

EARLIER, THE Pentagon

service dog injured in the complete a process as it did after

Navy SEALs killed al Qaeda public the name of the raid in Syria.

had said it was not making

Leader of ISIS, Abu Bakr al-

Baghdadi!" Trump tweeted.

picture of the wonderful dog that did such a GREAT JOB in

The photo of a military dog wounded in the raid on Baghdadi was released by the White House. AP and in accordance with the law of armed conflict."

founder Osama bin Laden in a Given the gruesome nature of Baghdadi's death, it was un-2011 raid into Pakistan. Bin likely the US military followed as Laden was killed by a gunshot

In the case of bin Laden, his body was transported to the aircraft carrier USS Carl Vinson. It was washed before being covered in a white sheet, and religious remarks translated into Arabic were read over bin Laden's corpse.

Milley did not enter into details about any of Baghdadi's last rites. He said that before the disposal of Baghdadi's remains, they had been transported to a secure facility to confirm his identity with DNA testing.

firmed on Tuesday the US military had killed the person who likely would have succeeded Baghdadi as the leader of Islamic State.

Bakr al-Baghdadi's number one replacement has been terminated by American troops," Trump wrote on Twitter. "Most likely would have taken the top spot."

Trump did not specify who he the jihadi group. REUTERS wound to the head, according to the US government.

Meanwhile, Trump con-

"Just confirmed that Abu was referring to, but the United States on Monday confirmed the killing of Abu al-Hassan al-Muhajir, Islamic State spokesman and a high-ranking figure within

18 killed as masked gunmen attack protesters in Karbala

Worst attack on a protest in Iraq since stir erupted this month

ASSOCIATED PRESS BAGHDAD, OCTOBER 29

MASKED GUNMEN opened fire at Iraqi protesters in the Shia holy city of Karbala on Tuesday, killing 18 people and wounding hundreds, security officials said, in the deadliest single attack since anti-government demonstrations erupted earlier this month. The overnight attack came as Iraqis took to the streets for a fifth straight day after a hiatus in the demonstrations that began earlier this month to protest government corruption, a lack of jobs and municipal services and other grievances. The earlier protests also saw violence against protesters, and a total of 240 people have been killed since the unrest began. But the bloodshed in Karbala could mark a turning point because of the high death toll and because the city is a major pilgrimage site where a revered Shia figure was killed in a seventh century battle. There were differing accounts and death tolls, and details were still emerging from the scene. It was not immediately clear who was behind the attack, and protesters said they did not know whether the masked men were riot police, special forces or Iranlinked militias. The protesters said Iraqi soldiers had been stationed around the protest site but with-

ELIZABETH PIPER &

at anti-government protests in Kerbala, Iraq. Reuters

Mourners wait outside the building of forensic medicine on Tuesday for the coffin of a protester, who was killed overnight

Amid a clampdown by security forces, it was difficult to piece together what exactly prompted the attack although eyewitnesses said that masked gunmen opened fire on the camp.

drew after the attackers began firing tear gas and live ammunition.

Provincial governor Nassif al-Khutabi denied any protesters were killed but said there were in-

Brexit election nears as UK

Opposition backs early poll juries among security forces.

He said videos posted online were fabricated and not from Karbala. The footage purported to show the aftermath of the attack, with fires and people running away to the sound of heavy gunfire. Al-Khutabi's description contradicted those from people who were at the scene.

At least 73 people — not including the latest fatalities in Karbala — have been killed since anti-government demonstrations resumed Friday, while 149 were killed during the earlier wave of protests this month.

SRI LANKA

Supreme Court stays death penalty till Nov 10

upon his release in June.

Colombo: Sri Lanka's Supreme Court on Tuesday extended the stay order till November 10 against a move by President Maithripala Sirisena to reinstate capital punishment in the country for the first time since 1976 before he leaves office next month. Sri Lanka has maintained a 43-year moratorium on capital punishment. However, Sirisena in June this year announced that he has signed the death warrants of four drug convicts and that the executions will take place soon. Later, the move was stayed till October 29 by the Supreme Court.

PHILIPPINES 6 killed in strong earthquake

Manila: An earthquake struck the southern Philippines Tuesday, killing six people, cracking buildings and injuring dozens in a region still reeling from a previous deadly tremor. Locals ran into the streets after the 6.6-magnitude quake, which hit the island of Mindanao as schools and offices opened for the day. The shaking lasted up to a minute in some areas, damaging homes, multi-storey buildings and classrooms in a region where hundreds are still displaced by a quake that killed five earlier this month. The Philippines suffers regular tremors as part of the Pacific "Ring of Fire".

Lt. Col. Alexander Vindman is the top Ukraine expert on the National Security Council. AP

Official who listened in on Trump's Ukraine call says it raised alarm

KAREN FREIFELD& PATRICIA ZENGERLE WASHINGTON, OCTOBER 29

A TOP adviser to US President Donald Trump on Ukraine testified on Tuesday that he was so alarmed after hearing Trump ask Ukraine's President to investigate a political rival, Democrat Joe Biden, that he reported the matter to a White House lawyer out of concern for US national security.

Army Lieutenant Colonel Alexander Vindman, director of European affairs on the National Security Council, arrived at the US Capitol clad in his military uniform as he became the first current White House official to testify in the House of Representatives impeachment inquiry against Trump. Vindman, a Ukraine-born American citizen and decorated Iraq War combat veteran, also became the first person to testify who listened in on the July 25 call at the heart of the Ukraine scandal. Even before his arrival, some allies of the President, including Fox News host Laura Ingraham, sought to attack Vindman's integrity and questioned his loyalty to the US.

TOP WITNESS

ARMY LIEUTENANT Colonel Alexander Vindman is the director of European affairs on the US National Security Council. He is the first current White House official and the first person to have listened in on Trump's call with the Ukrainian President to testify in the impeachment inquiry.

During the call, Trump asked Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskiy to investigate Biden, and his son Hunter Biden, who had served on the board of Ukrainian gas company Burisma. Trump also asked Zelenskiy to investigate a debunked conspiracy theory that Ukraine, not Russia, interfered in the 2016 US election. "I was concerned by the call," Vindman said in his opening statement. "I did not think it was proper to demand that a foreign government investigate a US citizen, and I was worried about the implications for the US government's support of Ukraine." REUTERS

Sharif is fighting for his life, says doctor

8-week bail for Pak ex-PM in graft case

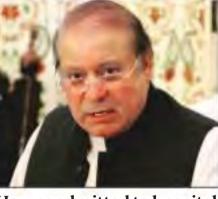

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA LAHORE, OCTOBER 29

NAWAZ SHARIF is "fighting for life" after a drastic drop in his blood platelet count, a media report quoted his personal doctor as saying on Tuesday, days after Pakistan's former prime minister was rushed from prison to a hospital.

Sharif, 69, was admitted to the Services Hospital on Monday night from the anti-graft body's custody after his platelets dropped to a critical low level of 2,000.

Sharif's personal physician Dr Adnan Khan said in a series of tweets that "Former PM #NawazSharif, critically unwell, is fighting the battle for his health & life. Thrombocytopenia (Low Platelet Count) & NSTEMI (Heart Attack) is further complicated by deteriorating Kidney functions. Poor Blood Sugar & Blood Pressure control is taking its toll," Geo News reported. The three-time prime minister on Saturday also suffered

He was admitted to hospital Monday after a drastic drop in his platelet count angina attack while undergoing treatment. Angina is a type of chest pain caused by reduced

Khan said that the poor blood sugar and blood pressure had also taken a toll on the former blood flow to the heart.

premier's health, the report said.

Meanwhile, the Islamabad High Court suspended the sentence of Sharif for eight weeks in the Al Azizia case, in which he is serving a seven-year imprisonment, Dawn reported. A plea for bail had been filed by Sharif's brother Shehbaz Sharif.

GUY FAULCONBRIDGE LONDON, OCTOBER 29 BRITAIN WAS heading towards a December election on Tuesday after Prime Minister Boris Johnson's bet on breaking the Brexit deadlock with an early vote gained support from Opposition parties.

As the European Union finalises a third delay to the divorce that was originally supposed to take place on March 29, the United Kingdom, its Parliament and its voters remain divided on how, or indeed whether, to go ahead with Brexit. Johnson, who had promised to deliver Brexit on Oct 31, has repeatedly demanded an election to end what he casts as a nightmare paralysis that is sapping public trust by preventing any Brexit outcome at all. After Parliament refused

Johnson his third demand for an election on Monday, he will try to force a Bill through Parliament on Tuesday that calls for a December 12 election. It needs a simple majority in Parliament.

In a move that raises the chances of a rare parliamentary success for Johnson, Opposition

Lebanon PM

resignation letter to President

Michel Aoun.

Saad al-Hariri

Boris Johnson speaks to MPs during the election debate in the House of Commons on Monday. AP Labour Party's leader Jeremy Corbyn said its condition of ruling out a no-deal Brexit had been met, so it would support an election.

"Labour will back a general election," said Corbyn, a veteran socialist campaigner. "The Labour Party loves a debate, but they also love the end of the debate, and this is the end of the debate: We are going out there to win."

Lawmakers could bring significant changes to Johnson's Bill. Opposition parties are squabbling over which day in early December is best for an election and whether to allow settled European Union citizens a vote. REUTERS

Early election still faces obstacles in Parliament

THE MAIN Opposition party, Labour, has agreed to support an early election to be held in December, potentially giving the government the number of votes it needs to pass a Bill to declare snap polls. But that Bill, which was voted down by MPs three times earlier, still faces considerable obstacles. While the election Bill is debated in Parliament, MPs could suggest amendments. Some have suggested amendments to expand voting rights to allow 16- and 17-year-olds, as well as EU nationals, to take part in the elections. The government has publicly declared that if such

Lebanon's PM resigns after mass protests

REUTERS

BEIRUT, OCTOBER 29

SAAD AL-HARIRI resigned as Lebanon's Prime Minister Tuesday, declaring he had hit a "dead end" in trying to resolve a crisis unleashed by huge protests against the ruling elite and plunging the country deeper into turmoil.

The move points to rising political tensions that may complicate the formation of a new government able to tackle Lebanon's worst economic crisis since its 1975-90 civil war. The resignation of Hariri, backed by the West and Sunni Gulf Arab allies, raises the stakes and pushes Lebanon into an unwho has been traditionally predictable cycle. It also defies Hezbollah, which had wanted him to stay on.

"For 13 days the Lebanese peohands over his ple have waited for a decision for a political solution that stops the deterioration (of the economy). And I have tried, during this period, to find a way out, through which to listen to the voice of the people," Hariri said. "It is time for us to have a big shock to face the crisis," he said. "To all partners in political life, our responsibility today is how we protect Lebanon and revive its economy."

Texas robbery gang leader who targeted homes of US-Indians gets 37 yrs in jail amendments were passed, it would abandon its attempt to hold early polls.

YOSHITA SINGH NEW YORK, OCTOBER 29

A TEXAS woman has been sentenced to 37 years in prison for leading a gang that carried out targeted robberies of Indian-

American homes across the US. Chaka Castro, 44, was sentenced on Monday by US District Court Judge Laurie Michelson of the Eastern District of Michigan, who presided over the trial.

After a five-week trial, Castro was convicted of one count of Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organisations (RICO) conspiracy, four counts of assault with a dangerous weapon in aid of racketeering and four counts of use of a firearm during and in relation to a crime of violence.

According to evidence presented at trial, from 2011 to 2014. Castro and her robbery crews committed a string of home invasions in Georgia, New York Ohio, Michigan and Texas.

Castro, who would generate lists of robbery targets in various states around the country. specifically families of Asian and Indian ancestry, and then assign her accomplices to carry out the armed robberies of these families within their homes. PTI

MATERNAL DNA DATA FROM 1,200 PEOPLE INDIGENOUS TO SOUTHERN AFRICA HELP NARROW DOWN LOCATION

Humankind's ancestral homeland pinpointed in Botswana

WILL DUNHAM WASHINGTON, OCTOBER 29

A LARGE ancient wetlands region spanning northern Botswana once teeming with life but now dominated by desert and salt flats — may represent the ancestral homeland of all of the 7.7 billion people on Earth today, researchers said on Monday.

Their study, guided by maternal DNA data from more than 1,200 people indigenous to southern Africa, proposed a central role for this region in the early history of humankind starting 200,000 years ago, nurturing our species for 70,000 years before climate changes paved the way for the first migrations.

A lake that at the time was Africa's largest — twice the area of today's Lake Victoria — gave rise to the ancient wetlands covering the Greater Zambezi River Basin that includes northern Botswana into Namibia to the west and Zimbabwe to the east, the researchers said.

It has been long established that Homo sapiens originated somewhere in Africa before later spreading worldwide.

"But what we hadn't known until this study was where exactly this homeland was," said family, who provided genome data for a study identifying the ancestral homeland in southern Africa of all living members of the human species. Reuters geneticist Vanessa Haves of the Garvan Institute of Medical Research and University of Sydney, who led the study published in the journal Nature. The oldest-known Homo sapiens fossil evidence dates back more than 300,000 years from Morocco. The new study suggests that early members of our species, as represented by the Morocco remains, may not have left any ancestors living today, the researchers said. "There is no contradiction between the presence of an early Homo sapiens-like skull in northern Africa, which may be from an extinct lineage, and the proposed southern African origin of the Homo sapiens lineages that are still alive," added co-author Axel Timmermann, a climate physicist at Pusan National University in South Korea.

The ancient Makgadikgadi began to break up about 200,000 years ago, giving rise to a sprawling wetland region inhabited by human hunter-gatherers, the researchers said.

"It can be viewed as a massive extension of today's Okavango Delta wetland area." Timmermann said.

Changes in Earth's axis and New Delhi versity and eventually cultural, lake southwest 110,000 years ago, Timmermann added. "Our study provides the first quantitative and well-dated evidence that astronomically driven climate changes in the past caused major human migration events, which then led to the development of genetic di-orbit caused climate, rainfall and vegetation shifts that set the stage for early migrations of this ancestral group of people away from the homeland region, first toward the northeast 130,000 years ago, then toward the

The leader of the gang was ethnic and linguistic identity," Timmermann added. REUTERS