Rana back in town, is hale and hearty

The actor is all set to report for shooting and is back deep with work after a long break

SURESH KAVIRAYINI

DECCAN CHRONICLE

Actor Daggubati Rana has returned. The Baahubali star, who was on a long break for the past several months, seems to be making up for all that time — even on a Sunday, he was busy with his hectic schedule.

After attending the launch of Galla Ashok's debut film, he heads into a meeting with his upcoming film directors to discuss his schedules. We are told he is also looking after the pre-production work for his mythological film Hiranyakasipa. So when we catch him, we can't help but ask him about when he plans to get on his shoot for Virataparvam. "I will join the shoot from December," he tells us.

We then ask about his progress with Hiranyakasipa. "It's very much on and as you can see, the work is going on in my studio. The pre-production work is very important and we are erecting a few sets for the shoot," says Rana, adding that as the film will release in multiple languages, the team will prepare the subject to appeal to the wider audiences.

Though it's a mythological film, Rana says the team is taking care of the language as he hopes everyone can understand the dialogues. "I have watched all the films on Hiranyakasipa and have read much literature on the topic. The older films have poems and some Sanskrit lines in them, which, although meant to add to the mythological feel of the story, may be lost on our younger generation. So we are tweaking the writing in a way that everyone understands," he adds.

Emphasising on why pre-production for any film is very important, Rana says, "If the pre-production is done properly, the number of days that goes into shooting are very less. For instance, the shoot for the film Avengers: End Game was completed in 70 days! That bit of information took me by surprise and it got me thinking that perhaps if we got our act together during the pre-production phase, we wouldn't need to shoot for months and months on end," says Rana.

The actor, we hear, has also completed the shoot for his next release, the Hindi film called Haathi Mere Saathi. "I am currently dubbing for my scenes. It's a three-language release and I have to dub in all the three, which is not an easy task," adds Rana with a chuckle.

Apart from acting, Rana has been eying production. We've also known that he has been in discussions with other filmmakers. For the moment, he tells us, he's planning a film with actor Raj Tarun, adding, "We are in touch and we want to start the film in January once Raj Tarun completes his present commitments."

The actor has completed the shoot for his next release, the Hindi film Haathi Mere Saathi. "I am currently dubbing for my scenes. It's a three-language release and I have to dub in all the three, which is not an easy task," adds Rana with a chuckle. He plans to start shooting for Virataparvam in December.

When asked about his progress with the film Hiranyakasipa, he replied, "It's very much on and as you can see, the work is going on in my studio. The pre-production work is very important and we are erecting a few sets for the shoot."

'Cricket gave me everything'

Says cricketer Harbhajan Singh who admits he made mistakes but is learning now and is much mellowed down now

'I got more than I asked for'

PASSING THROUGH

On a visit to the city, Indian off-spinner Harbhajan Singh and wife Geeta Basra talk about their life together, parenting and priorities

SASHIDHAR ADIVI

DECCAN CHRONICLE

 Despite an exhausting day of work — walking the ramp together and being part of an extensive photo shoot at a star hotel in the city — cricketer Harbhajan Singh and wife Geeta Basra are all game for a late-night interaction.

While Harbhajan initially excuses himself to put daughter Hinaya to bed, Geeta mentions that she has been to Hyderabad a couple of times earlier on work. "Everyone told me to go to Hyderabad to buy bangles during my wedding shopping, but I couldn't. So maybe this time. I also plan to visit Falaknuma," she says as she recalls eating one of the "spiciest biryani" on one of her previous visits.

The former actress reveals that she was initially apprehensive about marrying a cricketer. "I wondered how I would get any time with him, but later understood the dynamics of life," she says, adding that married life has been fabulous.

Recalling some of his memories of Hyderabad, Harbhajan or Bhajji as he is affectionately known, says, "The best one was when I scored my second century here against New Zealand. Also, when I was playing an U-16 match, I visited Charminar and took home a small showpiece. I still have it to this day." Further, he reveals, "Wherever I go, I savour the local cuisines, and for that, I use my cheat day."

For someone who has played the game for over two decades, Harbhajan describes the opportunity as a blessing. "God has been very kind and I am very grateful for what I have achieved. Not many can have such an opportunity," he expresses, adding that he's spiritual and a God-fearing man.

Interestingly, 'The Turbanator' eventually turned out to be a composed cricketer. "I have always been competitive and aggressive on-field, but off the field, I am jovial. I made mistakes but I am always learning from them."

Meanwhile, admitting that motherhood has brought a huge change in her life, Geeta emphasises that her baby is her top priority. Describing herself as a hands-on mother, she says, "I became more patient and empathetic as these are important aspects in parenting."

Both Bhajji and Geeta complement each other by respecting each others' priorities, through mutual understanding and giving each other space. "I don't bring work (cricket) home and vice-versa. In fact, sport (cricket) taught me to stay humble," says Bhajji, who will soon making his film debut.

"It's just a special appearance and not a full-length role. The filmmakers said that I have to just be myself and need not act (chuckles). It simply happened out of the blue," he recalls.

As to whether he is missing out on the game, Bhajji informs that his priorities have changed. "I played cricket for two decades, and my game gave me everything. But after my kid was born, I consciously decided to go easy because I wanted to spend more time with the family, who will always be my priority," he clarifies, adding, "If I put in six months of hard work, I can still stage a comeback. But I am content with the way things are going now. I got more than I asked for."

"I have always been competitive and aggressive on-field, but off the field, I am jovial. Becoming a dad has made me more responsible and calmer because I have to set the right example for my kids. I made mistakes but I am always learning from them."

Sitara lends her voice to Elsa

DC CORRESPONDENT

 A star-in-the-making, Ghattamaneni Sitara is well on her way to entering the big league. The seven-year-old will be living the dream of every young girl as she lends her voice to the younger version of Elsa in the Telugu version of the highly-awaited sequel of Disney's Frozen, set to release on November 22. The daughter of Mahesh Babu and actress Namrata

Sitara, has voiced one of Disney's most iconic characters in the Telugu version of Frozen 2

Shirodkar, Sitara is all set to make her mark amongst fans of the franchise as well as local audiences.

Speaking about her daughter's foray into this film, Namrata says, "Sitara has grown up to the tale of Frozen and has idolised Elsa ever since. She loves the movie so much that there was no way we could turn down the offer to voice young Elsa's character. It's a movie every girl relates to and Sitara is no different. She has thoroughly enjoyed voicing her favourite character."

Rakul on the rise

The actress talks about playing a sex-worker in Marjaavaan, her future plans, and her warm welcome into Bollywood

UMA RAMASUBRAMANIAN

 Rakul Preet has come a long way from being a South film industry veteran. The actress made it big in Bollywood with De De Pyaar De, and will soon be seen in Milap Zaveri's Marjaavaan, co-starring Sidharth Malhotra and Tara Sutaria

Speaking about the film, Rakul finds that the role appealed to her because it is different from how she has been seen before. "When Milap narrated this to me, he told me this role for me is like Rekha from Muqaddar Ka Sikandar and Tabu from Jeet. His selling point was that there are few such roles that have the potential to leave an impact. They are powerful and different.

When I heard it, I felt that it will be a different experience for people to see me in this avatar. The feel and look of that character were so different for me to bring in that versatility," she reveals.

The actress plays a sex worker in the film, which she finds was the most gripping aspect of her character.

"Playing a prostitute was the selling point because when else will I get such unconventional roles? It's a risk and I understand that, but as an actor, you will always be living in fear if you don't take the risk or worry about what people will say. So just take the plunge and go. Even though she is a sex worker, she is very headstrong and has a big heart," she explains, adding that she was happy to show off her versatility as an actor.

"I don't think much, and I am not here to break any stereotype. I loved the role and so I did it. I am not from this industry, and I want people to see my versatility. It's only when I choose to do a variety of roles that people will see that. In De De Pyaar De, they saw me as a girl-next-door, but this is so different. Tabu and Rekha's role was a brief role but we still talk about that," Rakul explains.

As for what kinds of roles are coming her way lately, the 29-year-old reveals that she has signed four films.

"Post De De Pyaar De, I have been spending time here (Bollywood) because I have explored the South industry by doing 25 films," she says with a smile.

Though Bollywood has given the actress a warm welcome, she still doesn't feel obligated to do any films.

"You have to say no sometimes because you cannot settle for anything. In the case that you make a mistake, there is no one to blame. I don't have anyone here and I am not complaining about it, but you have to be responsible for your decisions," she asserts.

Looking back at her roots in the South, Rakul says that the differences with Bollywood are few and far between.

"Both are equally professional. Storytelling is changing everywhere, like Arjun Reddy and Jersey. There are some loud films, and biopics, so it's similar. The only difference is with the work timings. We work 9-6 in the south, and 9-9 here," she concludes.

Big B to take time off

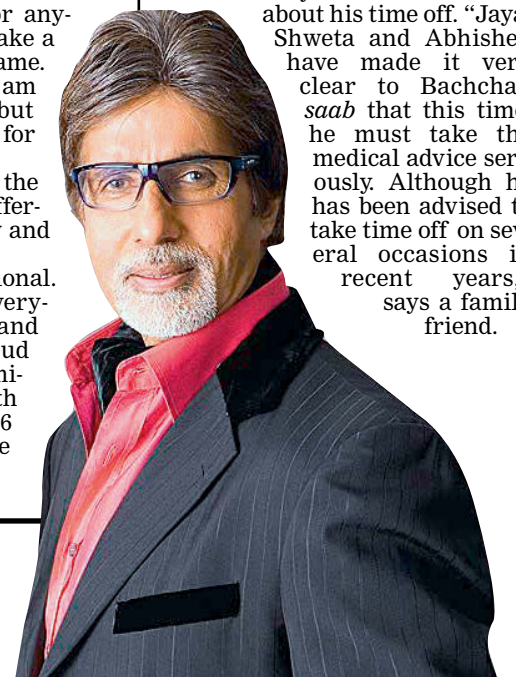

Doctors have advised the superstar to take a break from work to rest and recoup from his long-standing health issues

DC CORRESPONDENT

 Megastar Amitabh Bachchan has apparently been advised a long layoff from acting by doctors after some long-standing health issues resurfaced recently. And this time around, he has no option but to comply.

According to sources in the know, Big B would be taking time off right after the completion and release of Nagraj Manjule's football film Jhund in December. "The other projects that Amitji has signed will have to wait," informs a family source, adding, "Right now, it is imperative that he takes a longish break. He is physically exhausted; his body needs rest, repair and healing."

Sources say that the superstar's family is also adamant about his time off. "Jaya, Shweta and Abhishek have made it very clear to Bachchan saab that this time, he must take the medical advice seriously. Although he has been advised to take time off on several occasions in recent years," says a family friend.

Alia gets cozy with Neetu

 Alia Bhatt and Ranbir Kapoor were recently spotted vacationing together in LA, and a picture of them having a dinner date with Ranbir's mother Neetu Kapoor, niece Samaira, and her aunt Rima Jain took the Internet by storm.

Fans are seemingly unable to get enough, which was shared by one of their fan clubs. The Gully Boy actress was seen wearing a simple red wrap dress while happily posing with the family. Fans are still unable to determine where exactly this photo was taken, but speculation is rife both about the photo and otherwise. Everyone's burning question is about when Alia and Ranbir will tie the knot. Recently, a fake wedding card started circling on the Internet, raising suspicion and questions. It was only last night that Alia landed back in Mumbai, and she was immediately questioned by the paparazzi about her wedding.

Meanwhile, the duo will next be seen in Ayan Mukerji's Brahmastra, and will soon go to Manali to continue the shooting.

Puri's lucky charm?

The director believes that shooting in Goa brings him luck

 Puri Jagannath is currently shooting for his son Akash's film Romantic in Goa — a place that the director considers lucky. Interestingly, he used to favour Bangkok earlier for most of his film shoots, but following the super success of iSmart Shankar which was shot in Goa, he feels that it is a lucky place for him.

While Akash is playing the lead opposite Ketika Sharma, Puri has written the story, dialogues and screenplay for the film while his associate, Anil Paduri will make his directorial debut. Apparently, senior actress Ramya Krishnan has also joined the shoot in Goa.

"There are some action sequences, major scenes and a couple of songs planned in this lengthy schedule," says a source, adding that the director is hopeful that some of his luck will rub off on his son too.

'I am a die-hard fan of Pawan Kalyan'

Tamil film director Vijay Chandar says that he wrote a script for PK before offering the role to Vijay Sethupathi

 The success of Tamil films dubbed into Telugu has only given rise to more such projects. Now, Tamil actor Vijay Sethupathi's Sangathamizhan is all set for a simultaneous release in both languages this Friday.

In Hyderabad recently to promote the film, director Vijay Chandar revealed, "Many told me that this film looks completely like a Telugu film. The fact is that I am a die-hard fan of Pawan Kalyan and I first wrote this subject for him." He added, "I even narrated the story to Pawan Kalyan, but he was busy with his political career at that time, so I narrated it to Vijay Sethupathi next."

Expressing his desire to do Telugu films too, the director said he is confident that Vijay Sethupathi will win over Telugu audiences with this film.

Kartikeya gets ready to drink up

Filmmakers have announced the release date for the much-awaited 90ML

 Debutant director Shekhar Reddy's release 90ML, which stars Karthikeya of the RX100 fame, will release on December 5 this year. The film is currently in post-production.

Incidentally, a source tells us that the film's theatrical rights have already been sold out for a good price.

The filmmakers had recently released a couple of songs from the film, which were both huge hits and have generated quite the buzz around the film.

Incidentally, Ashok Reddy, who'd produced RX100, is the producer for this film too. "The film has shaped up very well and I am confident about the success. This film is going to be a milestone in Karthikeya's career," informs the producer.

The team had recently got back to the city after completing the shoot for a song sequence in foreign locations.

Venky continues with comedy

 Following the success of F2, where Venkatesh performed a hilarious act after so many years, the senior actor will continue his comic streak with Venky Mama that also stars his nephew, Naga Chaitanya. "Director Bobby is strong in the entertainment genre and Venkatesh will be even more hilarious in this film than in F2," says a source from the unit, adding that the film's shoot is complete and that the makers are planning to release it next month to mark Venkatesh's birthday that falls on December 13.

Fluidity in dance

Danseuse Yamini Reddy and her troupe presented on Sunday a unique combination of poetry and dance, Drishya Kavya, at Ravindra Bharathi. Divided into four different performances, each performance was based on an eminent poet's work, the performance left the audience in awe of the fluidity of the movements as well as the concept.

Weekend revelry

As one of the city's iconic and oldest party hubs turned 18, Hyderabadis let their hair down on Sunday as they rocked the dance floor, dancing to the Bollywood beats of popular DJ Akhtar. The week-long celebration concluded with best of Bollywood beats ranging from the iconic Amitabh Bachchan numbers to Ranveer Singh's hits. Dressed to the 'T', the city's movers and shakers shook their leg till the lights dimmed.

Singers and couple Gwen Stefani and Blake Shelton win at the People's Choice Awards 2019

The 50-year-old Hollaback Girl singer Gwen Stefani and the 43-year-old country rocker Blake Sheldon both received awards at the 2019 E! People's Choice Awards (PCAs) on November 10 at the Barker Hangar in Santa Monica, California. While Gwen won the People's Choice Fashion Icon Award, Blake won The Country Artist of 2019. Gwen, who was honoured by Jeremy Scott, ended her thank-you speech, saying "I love you, Blake Sheldon; you're a babe."

On his part, during his speech, Blake gave Pink and Gwen the best shout-outs ever: "I want to thank Pink because now I know we can cuss on this show—Gwen Stefani, I love the s-t outta you!" declared Blake. Watch them giving their thank you speeches on Just Jared.

Justin's ride with Hailey

Justin Bieber was spotted with his wife, Hailey, on November 10, riding around Los Angeles on a fat-tire bicycle, which has a seat attached on the back. Hailey was riding pillion, holding on tight to hubby Justin.

Check out the cut video on TMZ to watch the adorable couple as Justin paddles away from the busy main roads into the lanes and by-lanes of Bevil Hills, even as traffic builds up behind them. It's just so hard not to call them just kids!

Pink is officially a champion!

Pink is among the winners at the 2019 E! People's Choice Awards on November 10, held at Barker Hangar in Santa Monica, California. She was honoured with the People's Champion Award.

During her acceptance speech, she said, "I know that one person can make a difference. You feel like you don't matter? Feel like your life doesn't matter? Get involved. You can't tell me, Martin Luther King Jr., Rosa Parks, Nelson Mandela, Gloria Steinem, Anita Hill, Ruth Bader Ginsburg, Malala Yousafzai, Greta Thunberg ... Tell me one person can't make a difference."

Adding that kindness today is an act of rebellion, the Grammy winner said, "There are people who don't have what you have, help them get it. There is a planet that needs help, it feels good to help. Stop fighting each other and help each other. Get together with your friends and change the f—ing world."

Lal Singh Chaddha, revealed

 Aamir Khan's Sikh look, complete with his beard and pagdi, for his film Lal Singh Chaddha, has gone viral soon after it came out.

The leaked photo from the film's set comes only a few days after his mother Zeenat Hussain gave the mahurat clap. The actor is currently shooting in various locations in Punjab, and the photo is from the Chandigarh schedule.

The Lagaan actor has been making all his public appearances with the beard he sports in the film, and the current schedule has him in the pre-1984 era of this period drama.

The Advait Chaudhan directorial, which is a remake of Forrest Gump, also stars Kareena Kapoor in a pivotal role.

Ileana seeks solo film

PRIYANKA CHANDANI

 Although Ileana D'Cruz has done some prominent solo roles in the film like Barfi and Rustom, she still doesn't fall into the league of Priyanka Chopra, Jonas and Deepika Padukone.

However, the actress doesn't mind.

"I don't want to become Priyanka Chopra. Everyone has a different journey and struggle. I wanted to do heroine-centric films, but you have to take up things that come your way. I made thoughtful decisions and I stand by them. There are no regrets regarding all the work I did and denied," she says, adding that she wants to do things that excite her and she is open to take up different roles. "There is no specific role that I want to do, but I want to do heroine-centric films, some extremely raw and hard-hitting films that can make me feel uncomfortable. I want to do different roles. My attitude is to go with the flow," she explains.

With Pagalpanti releasing next week, the actress is in awe of her veteran co-stars like Anil Kapoor and Arshad Warsi in the film. "We are fairly serious during the shooting but we have fun off-screen. Arshad is genuinely funny and he brings that in the film. AK is a star. It's great when you work with great human beings and easygoing people, otherwise, it gets heavy. I felt comfortable working with so many stars," she expresses.

However, Ileana finds that it is tricky to balance one's own acting skills with all the other actors. "You need to balance your expressions with other actors. If you are inherently loud and the other actor is soft, then you have to soften your tone," she concludes.

Can Disha match Bhai's moves?

 Disha Patani, who went from being a dancer in Salman Khan's film Bharat to his next movie Radhe, is undergoing a hectic dance preparation for her dance numbers in the film.

In preparation for the dance, the actress' rumoured boyfriend and dancer extraordinaire Tiger Shroff guided her through the steps of various dance numbers and she worked hard so she could match steps with Salman.

"Salman has two left feet when it comes to dancing, but he has a unique style which has a huge fan following.

Disha needs to carve a niche for herself within the film and do well in what she has been asked to do in a male-dominated film. Let's not forget that the man who is directing Radhe is, in fact, a brilliant dancer and choreographer himself – Prabhudeva," says an industry source.

The film is said to be a remake of the Korean film The Outlaws, whose rights have been acquired by Salman's brother-in-law Atul Agnihotri's production house Reel Life Entertainment, along with Salman's brother Sohail Khan.

ONE PIECE OF DATA INFLUENCES THE PLAY

James Allen, who was an English philosophy and self-help author, wrote, "The more tranquil a man becomes, the greater is his success, his influence, his power for good. Calmness of mind is one of the beautiful jewels of wisdom."

At the bridge table, staying calm is much better than getting in a lather. But you also need to think straight and act accordingly, not just do the first thing that comes into your mind.

In today's deal, for example, how should South play in six spades after West leads a diamond?

North's two-no-trump response was the Jacoby Forcing Raise: four or more spades and at least game-going strength. South employed Roman Key Card Blackwood to learn that his partner had either one ace and the trump king or two aces.

There is a potential heart loser and a problem in the trump suit. If you have no heart loser, you have a safety play in trumps. (What is that?) If you have heart loser, though, you must play the trumps for no loser. (How?)

Since the heart suit influences the trump suit, declarer should test it first. After winning trick one on the board, declarer should immediately play a heart to his queen.

Here, the finesse wins, so South can afford one spade loser, but not two. The right play is to cash the spade ace. If nothing good happens, declarer plays a card to the dummy and leads a spade toward his queen.

However, when the singleton king drops, he is home.

If the heart finesse had lost, South would have taken the spade finesse, hoping that East had king-doubleton.

Angry fans chant 'XAVI OUT!'

✓ Furious Al Sadd fans chanted "Xavi out" as the Barcelona legend oversaw yet another league defeat reports, The Sun. The former World Cup winner, 39, only took charge of the Qatari club in May — having played for them for four years, making 82 appearances. But fans have quickly turned on him as the 14-time Qatari Stars League champions struggle for form this season. Xavi was booed by supporters as his Al Sadd players trudged off the pitch at half-time of their game against Qatar SC trailing 2-0. Al Sadd went on to lose 3-0, having lost their last match against Al Duhail 4-1. They now sit 11 points adrift of Al Duhail, the league leaders, down in fourth place. The club recently reached the AFC Champions League semi-final — but was dumped out of the competition they've won twice in their history after losing 6-5 on aggregate to Al-Hilal.

ZAHA filmed while goading Chelsea fan

✓ Wilfred Zaha was allegedly caught on camera shouting a foul-mouthed comeback at a goading Chelsea fan reports, The Sun. The former Manchester United player, 27, appeared to be in the back of a blacked-out Rolls-Royce when he was spotted after Crystal Palace's 2-0 defeat to the Blues. Chelsea supporters swarmed the flash motor when it pulled up on the side of the road. One fan shouted, "What happened today? Reece James, Reece James in the pocket," in reference to the Chelsea full-back keeping Zaha quiet during the match. The Eagles star then appeared to wind down his window and respond to the fans with an expletive loaded message. The rear window was quickly closed again and the car moved off.

NAILED IT

✓ The secret to Michy Batshuayi's recent success may have more to do with his hands than his feet says, the Daily Mail. The Chelsea star, 26, has been in red-hot form in recent months for the club — when given the opportunity — and the country. Batshuayi has scored eight goals this season, including a run of six goals in six games. While many fans may believe he's been working hard with his feet, he could owe his form to his newfound love of manicures. Batshuayi is enjoying a personal touch, including nods to his Batman nickname and his Belgian heritage. Batshuayi showed off the colourful nails in the reverse fixture with the Dutch giants last month too, when he scored the winner, as well as during the last international break with Belgium. Last month, A$AP Rocky revealed he wished more men would be brave enough to follow the #MaleArt trend.

Conor's outrageous GOAL

✓ Northern Ireland's Glentoran's Matty Burrows made the shortlist of Puskas Award in 2010 with his sensational flicked volley, while Cliftonville Ladies star Billie Simpson is in the running for 2019 gong. Now we could have an early contender for the 2020 award from Cliftonville in Conor McDermott claims, The Sun. The Northern Irish side were 1-0 up already thanks to a goal from Mark McKee against basement boys Warrington on Saturday. But what happened next killed off the game. As the ball flew towards defender McDermott he takes a touch, flicks it over the on running forward's head and controls the ball. That alone was pretty special. Not content with that moment of magic, McDermott steadied himself before unleashing an audacious shot from all of 60 yards. The ball flew over the goalkeeper's head and nestled in the back of the net.
