Third title for Springboks

South Africa stuns pre-match favourite England

RUGBY WORLD CUP

AGENCE FRANCE PRESSE YOKOHAMA (IAPAN)

South Africa stunned prematch favourite England 32-12 with a brutally effective forward display to win its third World Cup here on Saturday.

The Springboks' victory was built on a colossal performance by the powerhouse pack that allowed flyhalf Handre Pollard to kick six penalties before Makazole Mapimpi's 66th-minute try – the first the Springboks had scored in a World Cup final. Fit-again fellow flyer Cheslin Kolbe then crossed from the other wing to put the result beyond doubt and set off celebrations for the South African public.

Victory ensured Springboks made it three wins from three World Cup final appearances – after missing the first two editions because of apartheid – and maintained the record of being crowned champions at 12-vear intervals following triumphs in 1995 and 2007. Saturday's victory also

We have so many problems in our country but a team like this, we come from different backgrounds, different races but we came together with one goal and we wanted to achieve it

- SIYA KOLISI, South Africa captain

saw South Africa become the first team to win a World Cup having lost in pool play, with the Springboks beaten by reigning champion New Zealand in their opener.

Tactical triumph

It was a tactical triumph for South Africa coach Rassie Erasmus, who has overseen a Springbok revival after taking charge two years ago following a miserable 2016.

Siya Kolisi, South Africa's first black captain, lifted the Webb Ellis Cup in a moment of symbolism to rival 1995.

"We are so grateful to the people of South Africa," Kolisi said. "We have so many problems in our country but ■ Springboks made it three wins from three final appearances and maintained the record of being crowned champions at 12-vear intervals following triumphs in 1995 and 2007

It was the third defeat in four finals for England

a team like this, we come from different backgrounds. different races but we came together with one goal and we wanted to achieve it. Just shows that we can pull togeher if we want to achieve something.

For England, four years on from the humiliation of a first-round exit on home soil in 2015, which led it to appoint Australian coach Eddie Jones, it was a match too far after quarterfinal and semifinal wins over Australia and New Zealand.

A third defeat in four finals for England was also its second by South Africa, which defeated it 15-6 in the 2007 showpiece.
