

'No response from Mamata on requests for dialogue'

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA KOLKATA

West Bengal Governor Jagdeep Dhankhar, who is at loggerheads with the Trinamool Congress government in the State, said on Saturday that all attempts to reach out to Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee were exhausted as there was no response from her office on his requests for a dialogue.

Stating that a Chief Minister should be in regular communication with the Governor of the State, Mr. Dhankhar said he is still hopeful of a positive response from Ms. Banerjee.

"As Governor after exhausting back channels I engaged in outreach to CM by publicly inviting her to Discussions and Dialogue at her chosen place, time, date as this the only constitutional way (sic)," Mr. Dhankhar said in a tweet.

"CM sd [should] not be incommunicado to Gov. Am sure there wd [would] b +ve [positive] response," he added.

Mr. Dhankhar is being blamed by the Trinamool Congress for delaying clearance of pending Bills which had led to an abrupt two-day adjournment of the State Assembly earlier this week, opening a new front for hostilities.

He was shown black flags on Saturday evening by alleged Trinamool members when he came to attend a programme at a college at Liluah in Howrah district. The workers were also carrying banners with slogans against the Governor.

Dutch, Danish heritage in Hooghly gets an ASI push

World Heritage Week celebrated colonial monuments

SHIV SAHAY SINGH KOLKATA

The bends and turns along the western banks of the Ganga in West Bengal's Hooghly district has stories of many colonial settlements, including the Dutch and Danish. In an attempt to shed more light on these settlements, the Kolkata Circle of the Archaeological Survey of India focused on Danish and Dutch cemeteries among other monuments during its World Heritage Week celebrations last month.

"The western banks of the Hooghly [Ganga] had anchored different colonial settlements, including the French, Portugese, Danish, Dutch and British. While many heritage enthusiasts visiting these places located almost 30 to 40 km from Kolkata are fascinated mostly by the French architecture in Chandannagar and the Portugese structures at Bandel, the Danish and Dutch cemeteries remain forgotten," said Shubha Majumder, Superintending Archaeologist, Kolkata Circle of ASI.

The Dutch settlement in the area started as early as 1656, a couple of years before the Mughal king Aurangzeb ascended the throne. They started the trade of cotton, indigo and spices. Not many of the Dutch monuments are found today as they were demolished after the British took control of the region.

"The Dutch cemetery is a reminder of the golden days of their legacy in Chinsurah. The graves at the cemetery are scattered under the shade of old trees and surrounded by a high wall," Mr. Majumder said. The cemetery, which reflects a distinct architectural style prevalent in those times and similar to the Dutch cemeteries in south India, has about 45 graves of Dutch citizens who died between 1743 and 1846.

ASI booklet

"The oldest tomb belongs to Sir Cornelius Jonge who died at Chinsurah in 1743. The tombs include, among others, the grave of Daniel Anthony Overbeck, the Dutch Governor of Chinsurah, who stayed at the town even after it was handed over to the British authority in 1825. He died in 1840," states a publication released by the ASI to mark the World Heritage Week celebrations - November 19 to 24.

The other beautiful Dutch monument, located in Chandannagar, which the ASI wants to bring back in focus is a memorial of a Dutch lady, Susenne Anne Maria, who first married Peter Bruys, the Dutch director of Bengal and later Thomas Yeats, a well-to-do English businessman.

"Externally double storied, the mausoleum recalls baroque style as developed in France and Venice," the ASI publication said.

Talking about the Danish cemetery, Mr. Majumder said it is located at Srirampur and has two separate plots - one for the Roman Catholics and the other for the Protestants. The earliest of these graves date back to 1787, he said.

"The cemetery also includes a tomb of Col. Krefling, the Danish chief and director, who died in 1828. The Danish Governor, Hohlenburg, after his death in 1833, was buried in this cemetery," the ASI official said.

After the restoration of more than 230-year-old Danish tavern in Srirampur with the support of a private organisation in Denmark, interest in the Danish architecture in the region has been rekindled. St. Olav's Church, also a Danish structure located about 100 metres from the tavern, has also been restored and gets a steady flow of visitors.

Odisha reduces farmers' scheme assistance

Amount cut from ₹10K to ₹4K annually

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA BHUBANESWAR

The Odisha government has reduced the financial assistance given to farmers under the KALIA scheme to ₹4,000 per annum from ₹10,000, officials said on Saturday.

The decision to reduce the assistance was taken after the Odisha government merged the KALIA scheme with the Centre's PM-KISAN, launched in February 2019, they said.

"Keeping the parity of both the schemes, the small/marginal farmers may be given with ₹5,000 for 2019-20 and ₹4,000 per year from 2020-21, so that they will get ₹10,000 annually i.e ₹6,000 from PM-KISAN and ₹4,000 from KALIA," a notification issued by the Agriculture and Farmers' Empowerment Department said.

As all eligible farmers will get assistance from PM-KISAN from 2019-20, no assistance for Rabi-2019 will be given under the KALIA scheme, the notification said. "The actual cultivators (sharecroppers) who are landless, if any, will continue to get assistance from KALIA i.e ₹10,000 annually, since they are not considered under PM-KISAN," it said.
