In observation made at 6.00 p.m., Manali, Chennai recorded an overall air quality index (AQI) score of 361 indicating a hazardous level of pollution. In contrast, Amaravati, Andhra Pradesh recorded a healthy AQI score of 42

Air Quality Code: Poor Moderate Good (Readings indicate average AQI)
SO₂: Sulphur Dioxide. Short-term exposure can harm the respiratory system, making breathing difficult. It can affect visibility by reacting with other air particles to form haze and stain culturally important objects such as statues and monuments.

NO₂: Nitrogen Dioxide. Aggravates respiratory illness, causes haze to form by reacting with other air particles, causes acid rain, pollutes coastal waters.

CO: Carbon monoxide. High concentration in air reduces oxygen supply to critical organs like the heart and brain. At very high levels, it can cause dizziness, confusion, unconsciousness and even death.

PM_{2.5} & PM₁₀: Particulate matter pollution can cause irritation of the eyes, nose and throat, coughing, chest tightness and shortness of breath, reduced lung function, irregular heartbeat, asthma attacks, heart attacks and premature death in people with heart or lung disease

The incident occurred when the JDP members alleged that the VHP was organising the wedding ignoring their rituals.

Doctors turn activists against Paraquat poisoning

Number of fatalities from the agricultural herbicide has fallen at VIMSAR

SATYASUNDAR BARIK BURLA
It may appear strange to see a few young doctors with stethoscopes around their necks talking to relatives of patients on the use of a particular herbicide in agricultural fields. Yet, this can be seen regularly in the corridors of the Veer Surendra Sai Institute of Medical Sciences and Research (VIMSAR) here.

Fatal impact

The young doctors have undertaken hunger strikes, tried to sensitise the media, and held discussions with farmers' associations. Together, they have drawn attention to the fatal impact of Paraquat — very few have survived after consuming it. The constant pressure from the young medicos has forced the State government to withdraw its subsidy and stop the promotion of Paraquat. "I cannot forget the episode when a woman touched my feet, urging me to save her husband who had consumed Paraquat. It forced us to come out of our comfort zone," said Dr. Shankar Ramchandani, Senior Resident Doctor in VIMSAR, who has spearheaded the movement against use of Paraquat.

Doctors cite low pay, lack of promotions in govt. facility

SIDHARTH YADAV BHOPAL
As tens of doctors quit the only government-run super speciality hospital for the Bhopal gas tragedy survivors in 2014-2015, former Supreme Court Judge Faizanuddin wrote: "handing over the hospital to the Government of India has in fact proved to be its burial order." After the Bhopal Memorial Trust — the custodian of the Bhopal Memorial Hospital and Research Centre (BMHRC) for a decade — was wound up in 2010 by the court, the former Judge had called it "nobody's child", before its adoption by the Centre.

On January 22, 13 of the 19 doctors resigned from BMHRC, managed by the Centre's Department of Health Research, citing lack of promotions and infrastructure, low pay and fearing loss of seniority to new entrants, adding to a "mass exodus" of experts that has afflicted the hospital ever since the Centre became its manager.

The 350-bed hospital, catering to the survivors of the methyl isocyanide gas leak in 1984 from the Union Carbide pesticide unit here, has changed hands three times in a decade. It is set to be tossed back as an autonomous institute under the Indian Council of Medical Research (ICMR), in a bid to improve the availability of doctors by rolling out post-graduate programmes, according to the minutes of a High Power Committee's (HPC) meeting on August 13, 2019, perused by The Hindu.

This is despite the illustration of the ICMR's inefficacy in managing the hospital from 2012 to 2015, in the sixth report of a Monitoring Committee headed by retired Madhya Pradesh High Court Judge V.K. Agarwal.

As on January 27, there are 19 doctors, including the 13 whose resignations are yet to be accepted, against 57 sanctioned posts at the hospital, with the strength just a little over 30% against the sanctioned one. There are just three professors against a sanctioned 18, according to BMHRC's data.

To facilitate the teaching programmes, the hospital would be run like the Sree Chitra Tirunal Institute for Medical Sciences and Technology, an autonomous institute in Kerala, which "would help retain doctors." The Centre also plans to convert it into an Institute of Excellence.

"The ICMR has no experience in running a hospital," said Rachna Dhingra, coordinator, the International Campaign for Justice in Bhopal. "In the minutes, there is no mention of the survivors. It is all about protecting the doctors" has registered 157 deaths, mostly of farmers, since September 2017. The reason behind these deaths is the consumption of Paraquat — a herbicide used in agricultural fields. The tragedy stirred the conscience of young doctors, forcing them into the role of medical activists.

gether, they have drawn attention to the fatal impact of Paraquat — very few have survived after consuming it. The constant pressure from the young medicos has forced the State government to withdraw its subsidy and stop the promotion of Paraquat.

The records say that, between September and December 2017, as many as 32 persons were admitted with Paraquat poisoning to VIMSAR. Of them, 31 did not survive.

From September 2019 till date only 24 patients with Paraquat poisoning have been admitted to VIMSAR. Of them, 17 died while six have left with the advice of doctors, and one person died outside VIMSAR.
