

ELGAR PARISHAD CASE

Maharashtra opposes transfer of records to NIA court

CHANDAN HAYGUNDE
PUNE, FEBRUARY 7

THE MAHARASHTRA government on Friday urged a special court in Pune to reject an application filed by the NIA, seeking transfer of all the court documents and seized objects in the Elgar Parishad case to the NIA special court in Mumbai.

District government pleader Ujjwala Pawar told the special court that the NIA's application was "not legally tenable under the provision of law and particularly according to the provisions of the Unlawful Activities Prevention Act (UAPA) 1967 and NIA Act 2008".

Pawar also claimed the probe agency had "not given legal and sufficient reasons for transferring the said proceedings to the special court NIA, Mumbai."

Arguing before Special Judge S R Navandar, Pawar submitted that the offence in this case was committed within the jurisdiction of the Pune court. She further cited a Supreme Court judgment in response to the petition by historian Romila Thapar, opposing the arrests of the accused in the case, in August last year. Pawar pointed out that the Supreme Court had held, "It is not a case of arrest because of mere dissenting views expressed or difference in the political ideology of the named accused, but concerning their link with the members of the banned organisation and its activities."

She submitted that there was ample evidence against all the accused present before the court, as well as the absconding accused, and accused Gautam Navlakha and Anand Teltumbde, whose application seeking anticipatory bail is pending before the Bombay High Court.

NIA's counsel Namdev Taralgatti then presented his arguments seeking transfer of records to the NIA court in Mumbai.

Special Judge Navandar said he will pass an order on the NIA application on February 14.

DEFEXPO 2020

200 partnerships signed, Rajnath stresses $5-bn defence exports aim

MAULSHREE SETH
LUCKNOW, FEBRUARY 7

DEFENCE MINISTER Rajnath Singh on Friday said Uttar Pradesh will play a big role in achieving the target of $5 billion defence exports by 2024.

Speaking on the third day of the five-day DefExpo-2020 in Lucknow, he claimed that defence exports increased seven times between 2017 and 2019.

"In 2018-19, defence exports have reached Rs 10,745 crore, which is seven times compared to 2016-17. Following the unprecedented success of this year's DefExpo, we will be able to achieve the $5 billion target by 2024," Singh said.

Earlier, while inaugurating DefExpo on Wednesday, Prime Minister Narendra Modi said India aims to achieve a defence export target of $5 billion in the next five years.

Claiming that policies of the government in the defence sector have started showing results, Singh said that the defence offset policy has been streamlined. He admitted that it can be streamlined further. He expressed hope that the liberalised licensing regime will attract more investments from Indian and global companies.

More than 200 partnerships, including 71 MoUs and 18 technology transfers, were signed on the third day of the biennial event. As many as 23 MoUs worth Rs 50,000 crore were signed between the Uttar Pradesh government and companies. Defence Secretary Ajay Kumar said this edition of DefExpo has recorded the maximum number of MoUs, technology transfers and product launches.

Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath said the 23 MoUs signed by the state government will create job opportunities for 3 lakh people. The MoUs are related to the upcoming defence corridor in the state.

The Chief Minister further said that in the last two years, the state government has, along with the Defence Ministry, organised events related to the defence corridor, and large, small and micro industries have been set up. "We have tried to attract investment by preparing a policy of different focus centres in Uttar Pradesh besides formulating a defence aerospace policy," he said.

He said in the last two years, his government has attracted investment worth more than Rs 2.5 lakh crore and this will provide employment to over 33 lakh people. Adityanath assured investors that their money is safe.

The proposed Defence Corridor will run through six nodes — Aligarh, Jhansi, Agra, Chitrakoot, Kanpur and Lucknow.

DRDO brings missiles, indigenous tech

KRISHN KAUSHIK
LUCKNOW, FEBRUARY 7

THE DRDO installations at the DefExpo 2020 in Lucknow have proven to be among the largest crowd-pullers.

The Anti-Satellite (ASAT) missile — successfully tested last year, making India only the fourth country to successfully attack satellites — is attracting a lot of attention. So are the Akash Missile systems and the tanks.

However, the installations are not restricted only to its defence systems — it has also brought some of its latest technologies that will be used by the country's armed and paramilitary forces not just in combat zones, but also in counter-intelligence, surveillance and sanitisation operations.

While some of the technologies displayed are ready to be inducted, others are still at the trial stage, and a few others are still at the proposal stage.

Among the installations is that of its latest Daksh robot, also called the Unexploded Ordnance Robot. The Daksh Defuser, DRDO scientists said, is the world's first machine that can not only handle unexploded bombs remotely, but can also defuse them. Scientists said that the machine can be operated from a distance of up to 2 km, and while one arm of the machine can extricate a bomb from the ground, another arm can defuse or cut it.
